Twisters mark summer arrival

By The Associated Press

Summer arrived today on the heels of a flourish of thunderstorms, high winds and hail that raked a wide stretch of the Midwest.

The storms caused injury and property damage Thursday night and early today in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and touched off forest fires in South Dakota.

Scores of persons were injured in Illinois, where winds up to 85 miles per hour overturned trailers, damaged homes and offices and disrupted electrical power.

More than 3 inches of rain fell on southern Wisconsin, washing out several bridges and flooding secondary roads. Tornadoes felled barns, power lines and trees throughout the southern part of the state.

Winds clocked at between 90 and 100 miles per hour caused extensive damage to homes and crops in southeastern Minnesota.

In South Dakota, a lightning storm Wednesday triggered nearly 40 small forest fires in the southern Black Hills, and another storm Thursday caused several more. An estimated 400 acres of timber have been destroyed.

The front which triggered the storms extended from Montana to the New England coast. The Plains and Southwest baked under temperatures in excess of 100.

Partly cloudy skies were the rule in the Northeast and along the storm front. Scattered showers fell on the lower Atlantic Coast, Ohio Valley, Montana and northern half of the Mississippi Valley. The rest of the nation was under clear skies.

Lowell, a town of about 5,500 persons, was one of the communities hardest hit by the storm, state police said.

Most of the storm damage was confined to half a dozen counties stretching from the Illinois state line to South Bend.

Roofs were blown off about 10 homes and four businesses in Lowell, but no one was seriously hurt.

Part of the roof at Bryan Manufacturing Co., which prepares wiring blocks for automobiles, was caved in by the storm. Clocks in the building stopped at 8:10 p.m.

No one working there at the time was hurt, police said.

Seven Lowell residents were treated for minor injuries.

Lottery dispute still unsettled

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A legal opinion from the state attorney general may not settle the dispute between the Ohio Lottery Commission and the state auditor's office over payment of prizes to lottery winners.

Deputy State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson, has said he will abide by the attorney general's ruling but says if his position is not upheld he may ask for a court ruling to clarify the issue.

Ferguson got into a heated discussion with commission members Wednesday when he opposed the commission's plan to let ticket agents pay winners of $20 prizes. He said the winners must be paid by check from his office.

The commissioners asked for an attorney general's ruling by 4 p.m. today.

A lottery spokesman said a representative of Ferguson's office had approved the plan and that there will be delays in getting the first ticket sales under way if the system has to be changed.

Ferguson said he is concerned about possibilities of phony tickets being paid by agents.

He said also that since $20 winners will be eligible for the millionaire drawing, the state might be liable if the winner fails to obtain proof that his was a winning ticket.

"We could get around all that if a check is issued," Ferguson said.

A lottery spokesman said all agents would be bonded and that numbers on the winning tickets would enable sales agents to validate them.

Meanwhile, lottery Director John E. Kirkland Jr. said negotiations are under way with Greyhound Computer Corp. here to provide computer services. He estimated the cost at about $2,000 a week.

Lottery officials have said the state's computer in Columbus has been too slow in responding to programs sent from here.

Students take White House jobs despite Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Used to be, a college kid could impress his friends by landing a summer job at the White House.

But Watergate has changed that. "I've been told I'm signing up on the S.S. Titanic," said Linda Smith, a 22-year-old Wheaton College graduate.

"You say you're working at the White House, and you run into a lot of verbal abuse sometimes," added Michael Mulligan, 21, of Newburyport, Mass.

"I come from a Republican conservative area," said Judy Wilson of Cheyenne, Wyo. "And I've had some people say some negative things, like 'How could you go to work for someone up for impeachment?'"

The trio's laughter at each other's stories, underscored, however, what little impact such comments have on the attitudes and enthusiasm of this summer's White House 37 interns.

The 19 women and 18 men were chosen from 350 applicants to work in White House offices including the National Security Council, Domestic Council, news offices and Mrs. Nixon's office.

College students earn $125 a week, graduate students $150.

"I had no second thoughts on coming back after last year," said Miss Smith, of Ardmore, Pa., who works for Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, Helen Smith. (They are not related). "It's an experience I wouldn't get anywhere else ... It's seeing what happens in the executive branch from the inside."

Mulligan, a senior at Middlebury College in Vermont, helps with liaison work between the administration and big business.

"I had the impression when I came that everyone in the White House would be totally concerned with saving the President," he said. "But in my office, they're not consumed by Watergate."

Miss Wilson, a 21-year-old Fulbright scholar who recently was graduated from the University of Wyoming, helps edit the news summaries delivered daily to President Nixon and his aides.

Trio gets taste of police action in search for SLA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Driving down U.S. 101 south of Santa Barbara, Linda Lipsett, her husband Don and a female friend were trying to figure out why a Highway Patrol car had tailed them for 20 miles.

Suddenly another patrol car appeared behind them and then a sheriff's car shot off a ramp, followed by another patrol car.

Mrs. Lipsett remarked, "Boy! They're really after somebody."

She was right. Officers thought the Lipsetts and their friend were Patricia Hearst and her two Symbionese Liberation Army captors-turned-comrades.

Moments later, terrified and bewildered, the three were lying face down on the pavement, seven officers holding pistols and rifles on them.

Mrs. Lipsett said they pleaded with the officers to explain what was happening but were told, "Be quiet."

The explanation came minutes later. "We thought you might have been Patty Hearst and Emily and William Harris," an officer said. Their identities established, the Lipsetts and their friend, Katie Rowland, stood up and brushed off their clothes.

"We were absolutely panicked," Mrs. Lipsett said. "We thought they were going to shoot us."

Other Californians have had similar experiences during the police search for the Harrises and Miss Hearst, the newspaper heiress who was kidnapped Feb. 4 and is now sought as an SLA terrorist.

The FBI says it has no clues to the trio's present whereabouts. The last confirmed sighting was at an Inglewood, Calif., sporting goods store on May 16, the day before six other SLA members died in a fiery shootout with authorities in Los Angeles.

Police say they don't know how many people they have stopped since.

Some persons are merely questioned briefly and released. Others are held at the gunpoint until police establish their identities.

Steve Thorp, 25, who owns a van and lives in Los Angeles' Topanga Canyon, said he was stopped twice, and the second time police "tore apart" the van looking for evidence.

A Pasadena Star-News reporter was stopped by officers from three squad cars and four motorcycles after he and his wife, while in a coffee shop, showed interest in a newspaper headline about the three fugitives.

Whether a police officer draws a weapon on a Patricia Hearst look-alike "depends how strongly he feels she looks like Patty," said a Los Angeles police spokesman, Lt. Dan Cooke.

"Once it's been established they're not who we're looking for, we try to explain the necessity for the guns. Some understand. Others are outraged."

Cooke said almost everyone stopped has acknowledged the need for it. "We haven't received a single complaint," he said.

Mark Rosenbaum, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, disputed this, saying: "When the police say they don't receive complaints, that's nonsense. They complain, but not to police."

Food stamp bill sent to President

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has sent to President Nixon a bill authorizing a one-year extension of a food stamp program for elderly, blind and disabled welfare recipients.

The measure, approved by the Senate on a voice vote Thursday, has Nixon's support, administration spokesmen said.

Under the bill, needy persons covered by the new Supplemental Security Income program will continue to be eligible for food stamps through July 1, 1975.

While it raises serious constitutional questions relating to a president's war-making powers, it is not regarded by most members as likely to produce an article of impeachment.

The committee delved into Nixon's income tax returns Thursday and learned he had been assessed a 5 per cent negligence penalty by the Internal Revenue Service besides having been found to owe $432,787 in taxes for 1969-72.

However, nearly all members questioned said they heard nothing during the day-long closed session indicating Nixon might be guilty of tax fraud.

In related developments: —The administration continued its criticism of the Judiciary Committee.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said "due process is being violated on a daily constant basis" by leaks from the committee.

—John D. Ehrlichman claimed that President Nixon clamped a security lid on the activities of the White House plumbers in December 1971. Ehrlichman made the assertion in asking approval for a new subpoena demanding that the White House surrender notes Ehrlichman made.

—Presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair asked the Supreme Court to turn over evidence that led a grand jury to name Nixon an undicted co-conspirator in the Watergate break-in.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski opposed the request.

The tax inquiry centered on a $576,000

Colson sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles W. Colson, once one of President Nixon's highest-ranking advisers, was sentenced today to serve one to three years in prison for obstructing justice.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell also imposed a $5,000 fine.

Maximum penalty on the charge would have been five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

"For 3½ years I worked day and night. I believed I was making a great personal sacrifice for my country," Colson said before sentencing.

"This experience has brought a complete re-examination of myself and I will spend the rest of my life regretting what I have done," he said.

After Colson's 12-minute statement to the judge, his lawyer spent a full half-hour asking that Colson be placed on probation rather than be sent to prison.

Attorney David I. Shapiro told Gesell that Colson should not be sent to prison because of "public expectations."

He said sending Colson to prison "would be, in my view, a most popular decision. It would also be a terribly shortsighted one."

The judge interrupted him saying, "You're barking up the wrong tree ... you are beating a dead horse." Gesell said public opinion would not sway him one way or the other.

As he sentenced the defendant, Gesell said, "The court does recognize that Colson's public image was somewhat distorted" but that he had to send him to prison.

The sentence means that Colson must serve at least one year at an institution not yet designated. The judge gave him until July 8 to surrender.

Colson had been charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and obstructing justice in the Watergate cover-up case and with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist in the plumbers case. Both those charges were dismissed today.

Milk fund figure to plead guilty in Connally's case

Jacobsen had sought to have all charges reduced to misdemeanors because conviction of a felony almost certainly would lead to loss of his right to practice law, the sources said.

However, the prosecutors insisted on stiffer terms, and Jacobsen's lawyer, Charles A. McNelis, agreed to the bribe charge more than two weeks ago, the sources said. Jacobsen wants to resolve the charges against him because his wife is in poor health and needs constant attention, a source said.

Jacobsen, McNelis and spokesmen for the Justice Department and the Watergate prosecutors all declined comment.

Connally could not be reached but his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, said he had heard rumors of an impending deal.

Jacobsen represented the milk producers in 1971 and arranged for his old friend Connally to work within the administration for an increase in federal milk price supports.

Connally argued strongly for a price increase at a White House meeting at which President Nixon decided to order the hike, a fact sheet issued last January by presidential spokesmen said.

Both Jacobsen and Connally have testified that within a few days of the increase, Jacobsen offered Connally $10,000.

Both said it was not offered as a bribe, but as a fund from which Connally could donate to political candidates.

Bombing in Cambodia is studied by panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Judiciary Committee is concluding six weeks of hearings on impeachment evidence with a study of the secret bombing of Cambodia in 1969-70.

It will still be several weeks before the committee decides whether grounds exist for impeaching President Nixon, however. Witnesses are to be heard, Nixon's defense presented and the proposed articles of impeachment debated.

Today's Cambodian bombing inquiry involves the falsifying of reports to Congress and the destruction of official records to conceal 3,630 B52 sorties into Cambodia during 14 months while the United States officially was recognizing Cambodia's neutrality in the Vietnam war.

While it raises serious constitutional questions relating to a president's war-making powers, it is not regarded by most members as likely to produce an article of impeachment.

The committee delved into Nixon's income tax returns Thursday and learned he had been assessed a 5 per cent negligence penalty by the Internal Revenue Service besides having been found to owe $432,787 in taxes for 1969-72.

However, nearly all members questioned said they heard nothing during the day-long closed session indicating Nixon might be guilty of tax fraud.

In related developments: —The administration continued its criticism of the Judiciary Committee.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said "due process is being violated on a daily constant basis" by leaks from the committee.

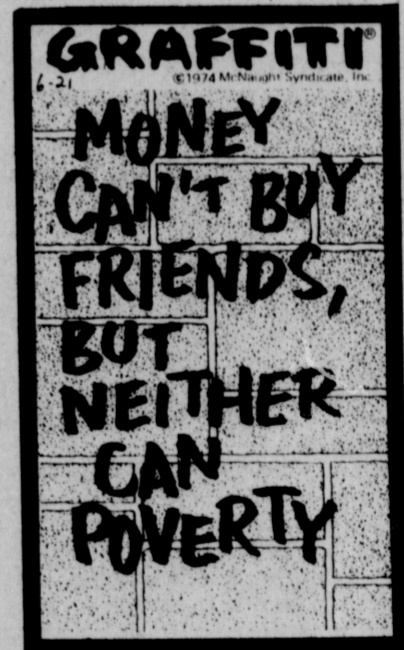

—John D. Ehrlichman claimed that President Nixon clamped a security lid on the activities of the White House plumbers in December 1971. Ehrlichman made the assertion in asking approval for a new subpoena demanding that the White House surrender notes Ehrlichman made.

—Presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair asked the Supreme Court to turn over evidence that led a grand jury to name Nixon an undicted co-conspirator in the Watergate break-in.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski opposed the request.

The tax inquiry centered on a $576,000

deduction claimed by Nixon for a gift of his vice presidential papers to the United States. The IRS, which had previously approved the deduction, later disallowed it.

Nixon accepted the IRS finding and said he would pay the amount assessed. However, the committee was told he has not paid $148,080 for 1969, which he is not required to pay because the statute of limitations for that year has expired. He is believed to have paid the rest.

The 5 per cent penalty for negligence also did not apply to 1969. John Doar, special counsel for the committee, said it was directed against Nixon and not his accountants.

Rep. David Dennis, R-Ind., said the imposition of a negligence penalty implies there is no criminal intent on the part of a taxpayer and thus to fraud.

But Albert Jenner, chief minority counsel for the committee, said at a news briefing that a finding of negligence does not rule out the possibility that fraud could be established later.

Firm inks $200 million pact with Soviets for fertilizer

MOSCOW (AP)—The Chemical Construction Corp. of New York has won the largest Soviet contract ever granted an American firm. Worth about $200 million, it covers the developing and equipping of the first four plants of a huge ammonia-fertilizer complex.

The contract was signed Thursday at the Soviet Foreign Trade Ministry by John Clarke, head of the Chemico division responsible for the project, and the head of the Soviet foreign trade department supervising the deal.

Also present was Armand Hammer, chairman of Occidental Petroleum, who negotiated the master Soviet-American agreement under which the complex is being built.

The U.S. Export-Import Bank last month granted a $180-million loan to the Soviet Union for construction of the complex. American commercial banks are to match this sum.

Under a proposed 20-year deal, the Soviet Union will buy superphosphates produced in Florida by an Occidental consortium and use them to make a type of fertilizer greatly needed by Soviet agriculture.

In return the Soviets will ship the United States urea and ammonia to be used in production of nitrogen fertilizers. The new plants will produce the urea and ammonia from natural gas from the Soviet Union's Orenberg field. Chairman William Casey of the Export-Import Bank said this would free enough American natural gas to heat a million homes a year.

In April 1973, when the initial protocol was signed, Hammer estimated it would generate $8 billion in trade. On Thursday he increased his estimate to more than $20 billion, explaining that the price of ammonia and phosphates had more than doubled.

Chemico is to supply the designs, engineering, material, construction advisers and equipment for four plants at Togliatti, on the Volga river about 400 miles east of Moscow. Each will produce 1,360 tons of ammonia a day.

Clarke said he expects construction to start by Jan. 1 with completion four years later. The Soviets plan to build four more plants in the complex, but the contracts for them have not been let yet.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Pearl Burke

Mrs. Viola Breakfield Burke, 61, a native of Fayette County, died at 8 a.m. Friday in Ross County Medical Center, Chillicothe.

A longtime resident here, Mrs. Burke had been residing in Bainbridge for the past year. She was a beautician in Chillicothe and was involved in a variety of business ventures.

She is survived by her husband, Pearl; her mother, Mrs. David Breakfield, Good Hope; and four brothers, William Breakfield, Chillicothe, Pearl, of Good Hope, and Robert and David, of Tampa, Fla.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Emmett Quann

COLUMBUS—Services for Emmett Quann, 71, of 1434 Clifton, Columbus who died at 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Anthony Hospital will be held at 1 p.m. Monday in the Crosby Funeral Home, 2323 E. Fifth St., Columbus.

Mr. Quann, born in Washington C.H., the son of the late James and Minnie Quann, was a retired horseman and well-known in Fayette County.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth; a daughter, Mrs. Joan Thornton, both of Columbus; a sister, Mrs. Louise Stewart, New York City, N.Y.; a brother, Louis Quann, Metropolis, Ill.; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

New election seen possible in Britain

LONDON (AP) — The minority Labor government was defeated in Parliament today for the third time in three days, putting Prime Minister Harold Wilson under increased pressure to call Britain's second general elections in less than a year.

The vote was not on a motion of confidence, and Wilson is not bound to resign. Under the British system the prime minister is free to call elections at any time, but if he loses on a motion of confidence he is expected to call a ballot promptly.

But several members of Wilson's cabinet reportedly are urging him to call general elections this summer to seek a clear majority for Labor.

Today's 49-42 defeat was on a government proposal to amend a proposed lottery bill.

Thursday night the House of Commons by a 21-vote margin rejected a government proposal to nationalize or take partial control of a number of industries.

On Wednesday the Commons by nine votes rejected Labor's plan to refund $24 million in taxes to trade unions, and the government suffered four minor defeats in a committee considering its finance bill.

Robert Mellish, Labor's blunt floor manager, said the defeat of the nationalization proposal was "a clear indication to the country that the minority government cannot proceed ... very much longer. The electorate must now be ready and must understand why there will have to be a general election."

Wilson said only that his party would "consider all the implications" of its defeat.

Inflation hits double figure again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The annual rate of inflation in consumer prices returned to double digit levels in May following the April slowdown, the Labor Department reported today.

Consumer prices in May were 10.7 per cent above a year earlier and, if the May inflation rate continued for the next 12 months, would be more than 13.2 per cent higher than now at the end of the next 12 months, the department said.

The May increase in the Consumer Price Index was 1.1 per cent. This compared with a sixteenth of one per cent increase in April.

The Nixon administration hopes to bring inflation down to a seven per cent annual rate by year's end.

There were sharply higher prices last month for a wide range of goods and services, including food, health services, clothing and used cars.

Among the bad news reported in the May index was a nineteenth of one per cent increase in food prices on a seasonally adjusted basis, reversing the four-tenths of one per cent decline in April.

Prices of fresh vegetables were up 19 per cent in May, much worse than usual for this time of year. Also increasing rapidly were prices for fresh fruits, cereal and bakery products, sugar and sweets, and processed fruits and vegetables, the department said.

The only favorable consumer trends in the food area were lower prices for meats, poultry and eggs.

The May increase of 1.1 per cent in the CPI was both on a seasonally adjusted and unadjusted basis. The index stood in May at 145.6 of the 1967 average of 100, meaning it cost $145.60 to buy what $100 purchased in the 1967 survey.

The big increase seemed certain to increase demands in Congress and among consumer groups for new initiatives to bring inflation under control.

Findlay driver killed

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Ralph C. Meyer, 41, of Findlay, was killed early today in a two-car, head-on collision on Findlay's northeast side, police reported.

Dr. Harry Crewson interim OU head

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A 25-year veteran educator at Ohio University has been named to serve one-year as the school's interim president.

Dr. Harry B. Crewson, 61, fills the post of Dr. Claude R. Sowle, who resigned effective Sept. 1. Meanwhile, university trustees will search for a permanent replacement.

Crewson, chairman of the Department of Economics for the past two years, said he will not be a candidate for the permanent position.

Currently an Athens County commissioner, Crewson has a wide background in community affairs. He resigned as president of the Athens City Council in January to become a commissioner and has indicated he will stop down from that post to devote all his time to the presidency.

"I will have the advantage of working with an experienced administrative team, a well-qualified faculty, dedicated trustees and a loyal non-academic staff," he said following the announcement Thursday.

Sowle announced he would step down after a series of springtime student demonstrations over a student workers union and other mass gatherings that brought out the Athens police. He has been president of the 14,000-student

12-mile limit being pushed at sea meet

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The United States has started its campaign at the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea to hold the new territorial sea limits of nations to 12 miles.

Chief U.S. delegate John Stevenson told a news conference Thursday the United States, which now claims the traditional three miles around its shores, is prepared to adopt the 12-mile limit that has been gaining favor provided this was generally adopted internationally.

Stevenson said the United States also would agree to an additional zone over which the adjacent nation would control "living and nonliving resources" but through which ships could pass freely. He said the U.S. would be "flexible" about this zone's width.

This was a concession to Peru, Ecuador and Chile, which have been enforcing a 200-mile limit off their coasts to the detriment of tuna fishermen from southern California.

In exchange for approving an extension of the territorial limits, the U.S., wants guarantees as sought by the major maritime nations that the straits connecting the world's seas will remain open to international navigation.

The Soviet Union today reiterated its support for the 12-mile limit in "the interests of coastal countries and the interests of the international society." But China in a broadcast Thursday said each country has the right to determine its own territorial limits and zone of jurisdiction.

Moscow Radio said this was against the interests of the majority of nations, including developing countries, and it accused the Chinese of trying to block limitations "just in case they want to claim islands now located in international waters."

Samaritan finds deed dangerous

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Being a Good Samaritan has nearly cost Tommy Howard his life.

Howard, 50, has been collecting money for Mattie Morrison, a crippled woman who lost everything when her home burned during the Symbionese Liberation Army shootout with police here May 17. Since Howard's efforts were detailed in news stories, he has been attacked twice.

Howard was robbed Tuesday as he sat next to the glass jar he keeps for donations from sightseers who visit the shootout site.

"There were two men," Howard said Thursday. "One reached for the jar and I said, 'Man, don't mess with the jar...that's for the lady who lived here. She's a cripple.' But he said 'No, I got to have it. I need it myself.'"

The man then pulled out a straight razor and, forcing Howard back, took the meager contents of the jar and fled with a companion, Howard said.

"I figured I got to find him," Howard said. "So I drove around and I found him...and I called the police and they got him. You can't let them kind of people get away."

Police arrested Thomas Ford, 29, who was charged with petty theft and displaying a weapon in a threatening manner, authorities said.

On Wednesday, two angry women approached Howard as he sat next to a poster asking donations, demanding to know why he wasn't collecting money for them. They too were burned out during the shootout.

"Well, if you ain't gonna help me, I'm gonna bust this up," Howard quoted one of the woman as saying.

"Then she pulled the sign down, and the other one she hit me with a board," Howard said.

Arrest Kentuckian for wild driving

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Anthony C. Scott, 18, of Erlanger, Ky. is free on bond today following his arrest Thursday morning for reckless driving, speeding and driving without a license.

Police said they clocked the Erlanger youth roaring down Torrance Parkway hill at 66 miles an hour in a 40 mile zone—standing on the seat of the cycle.

campus for five years.

In announcing the decision, Board of Trustees President William R. Morris said: "Dr. Crewson offers the university exceptionally well-balanced ability. He has a wealth of knowledge of the university and its various constituencies, and a strong academic background and acceptance by the faculty."

Morris said Crewson was the board's unanimous choice from seven candidates.

The new president received his undergraduate degree from the College of Wooster and his masters and doctorate in economics from the Ohio State University.

For the past 15 years, he has served as a staff member of the Ohio School of Banking and the Institute for Credit Union Personnel.

He also is a member of the Ohio Municipal League and in 1971 he was appointed to the Citizens Task Force on Environmental protection.

Crewson served a two-year term as chairman of the Athens County Democratic party and is a member of the Athens Community Improvement Corporation.

He is married and the father of two children.

Calley spends first night in stockade

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. spent the night in a military stockade for the first time in three years, since shortly after he was convicted of murdering 22 people in the Vietnamese village of My Lai.

Calley, who had been free on bond since his house arrest was lifted in February, voluntarily surrendered to military authorities at nearby Ft. Benning on Thursday. He was assigned a large cell of his own.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled last week that Calley should be returned to military custody while he appeals his conviction in the 1968 My Lai massacre.

At a hearing Thursday, U.S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott, who had ordered Calley freed on bond, said no further action was necessary for the 30-year-old former lieutenant to be taken into custody again.

His local attorney, Kenneth Henson, said later: "I assume he will be eligible for parole July 1—a third of his sentence will have been served by then. The Army should yield to the overwhelming sympathies of the people of this country," he said.

Calley originally was sentenced to life imprisonment, but the sentence was later reduced to 10 years. He spent the first three nights after his conviction in the stockade before President Nixon ordered him released and placed under house arrest.

Hearing scheduled on atom plants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A hearing has been scheduled for June 25 by the Ohio Power Siting Commission on requests for waivers that could speed construction of two nuclear power plants.

The Ohio Edison Co. and Toledo Edison Co. requested the waivers, the commission said Thursday.

Ohio Edison wants a waiver for filing requirements for its proposed Erie Nuclear Plant near Huron, while Toledo Edison asked for a waiver of time and informational requirements for its Davis-Bessie site in Ottawa County.

By The Associated Press

Summer comes to Ohio officially at 2:38 p.m. today, with showers and thundershowers likely throughout the state to help mark the transition from Spring.

The National Weather Service also reported that this will be the last day of high temperatures and excessive humidities for a time, because cooler, drier air will move into northern counties tonight and complete a sweep of the state early Saturday.

The morning weather map Friday showed weak low pressure centers in eastern Lower Michigan and western Iowa. Both are moving eastward. The cooler air will enter Ohio after low pressure center passes through.

Numerous showers and thundershowers were reported over the state Thursday night and early Friday. West Central and southwest counties were under a tornado watch for several hours during the night, while northwest counties were under a severe thunderstorm watch. There were no reports of severe damage.

A chance of showers Sunday, fair Monday and Tuesday. Highs in the 70s. Lows in the 60s early Sunday and in the low to mid 50s by early Tuesday.

his tractor-trailer rig in Lake County, the northwest Indiana county which borders Chicago and Lake Michigan.

To the south, in Jasper County, authorities estimated 10 persons were injured.

The twisters were part of a massive storm front that dumped rain and hail over the northern half of Indiana. Most of the tornado damage occurred between 8:15 and 9:30 p.m. local time.

Tornadoes were confirmed at Lowell and Virgie and near Fowler, Hebron, Rensselaer, Lafayette and Benton.

The National Weather Service at Indianapolis said scores of tornado sightings were reported, but there were less than 10 confirmed touchdowns.

The storm system was spawned from a squall line extending across northern Indiana and Illinois. Most of Indiana was under tornado or thunderstorm warnings at some point during the evening Thursday.

Forty five persons were killed April 3 in tornadoes that struck northwestern and southeastern Indiana.

The town of Monticello was hardest hit by the April tornadoes, in which seven persons were killed. No tornado damage was reported in Monticello Thursday night.

Mayors take up inflation

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Inflation and its squeeze on municipal budgets is the major problem facing urban chief executives gathering today for the 42nd annual meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Some mayors surveyed in advance of Saturday's opening session said federal revenue sharing and the "New Federalism" have only helped offset inflation and have failed to relieve American cities of their perennial financial woes.

The sharpest criticism came from Boston's Kevin White who said, "Inflation ate up revenue sharing before it could even be spent ... Its implementation has been a hoax and a hollow shell game for the cities of America."

White, a Democrat, added, "We have been forced to rob Peter to pay Paul and we end up nearly starving both."

Another Democrat, Mayor Tom Bradley of Los Angeles differed:

"General revenue sharing has been a fiscal lifesaver for us as we have gotten almost $40 million a year," Bradley said. "Without it we would be in dire financial straits."

About 350 mayors were expected to attend the sessions, which begin Saturday and run through Wednesday when the mayors adopt resolutions and choose a successor to Norfolk's Roy B. Martin Jr. as conference president.

SMU music chairman to take over UC post

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Eugene Bonelli, 40, chairman of music at Southern Methodist University, has been tentatively accepted to head the University of Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music.

UC President Warren Bennis said Thursday that Bonelli's appointment has been tentatively approved by the board of directors.

Dean Jack M. Watson retired from the post last August.

Stock list takes dip

NEW YORK (AP) — A prime rate increase by New York's First National City Bank helped set off a broad decline in the stock market today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was fractionally lower, and declines took a 3-1 lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

As trading began First National City, which had sparked some strong gains in the market two weeks ago with a prime rate cut, lifted its rate on loans to big business back up from 11 1/4 to 11 1/2 per cent.

Most other banks have held their prime rates at 11 1/2 since last month.

Analysts noted that hopes for a downturn in interest rates had been fading steadily in recent sessions, and stock prices have given up much of the ground they gained in their sharp rally at the beginning of June.

Prof probes FBI actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has enlisted the help of an outside scholar for a two-year study of its most sensitive and controversial function, domestic intelligence.

The research project, to be conducted by political scientist John Elliff, could lead to legislation and regulations governing FBI surveillance of domestic organizations and individuals viewed as threats to security.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley has encouraged the project, marking the first time the agency has invited an outside critic to examine and suggest future policies for an internal operation.

The project was announced Thursday by the private, nonprofit Police Foundation, underwriting the $61,600 cost.

Purposes of the study, Elliff said, are "to contribute to a more systematic understanding of the role of the FBI as an internal security intelligence agency" and to evaluate ways "to insure that privacy and freedom are safeguarded and that legitimate governmental needs are served."

Claim Nixon untouchable

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers told the Supreme Court today a U.S. president "is not subject to the criminal process whether that process is invoked directly or indirectly."

But special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski responded that the framers of the Constitution "were very careful to provide for a presidency with defined and limited constitutional powers and not the prerogatives and immunities of a sovereign."

The statements were in briefs filed with the court in connection with arguments scheduled for July 8 on the President's claim of executive privilege to withhold White House tapes and documents which are wanted for the Watergate coverup trial.

Egil Krogh free after 6 months

BALTIMORE (AP) — Egil Krogh, convicted head of the White House "plumbers" unit, was released from a federal detention center today, authorities reported.

A spokesman for the U.S. Marshal's office said Krogh was released about 2 a.m. from a detention facility "somewhere in the Baltimore area." He declined to be more specific on its location.

Columbus man killed in auto accident

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A 38-year-old Columbus man has been killed in a one-car wreck on Interstate 71 south of here, the Highway Patrol said.

Officers said the brakes on a car driven by Fred Broska Jr. apparently failed Thursday causing the crash.

Personal income rises in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Personal income in Ohio, after seasonal adjustment, totaled $56.8 billion in April, an increase of 8 per cent from the same month a year ago, the Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University reported today. The center said personal income increased in six of the state's eight major cities, ranging from 4 per cent in Cleveland to 11 per cent in Toledo.

Premature declaration

More than half the members of the Senate have signed a resolution declaring that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's "integrity and veracity are above reproach." This is really rather odd, considering the circumstances; there is about it an air of panicky scrambling to reassure him of the Senate's trust and thus avert his resignation.

A gesture of support certainly was called for. Though we do not share Vice President Ford's view that Kissinger to resign would be "catastrophic," we believe he has performed very ably as secretary of state and should be encouraged to remain in office. His departure would not be a catastrophe, but it would deprive the nation of a remarkable public servant and would interrupt the momentum of a largely successful foreign policy.

Supportive words from the Senate are thus appropriate, and will help to save Kissinger's bruises.

There is a very significant difference, however, between assurances of general trust and support, and an outright statement that the secretary's probity is "above reproach." This is a premature conclusion.

New evidence relating to Kissinger's part in the security wiretaps, including FBI memoranda which seems to conflict with what he told the Foreign Relations Committee last September, has come to light. The secretary cannot reasonably be given a clean bill of health until this new evidence and a variety of allegations have been weighed by the committee.

It should be remembered that Kissinger did not threaten immediate resignation. What he said in Salzburg was that "the character and credibility of the secretary of State is at issue," and that "if it is not cleared up, I will resign." He said further that he had asked the Foreign Relations Committee to review the matter, and would be willing to appear before it.

The committee has agreed to such a review, and to this end has asked the special prosecutor's office and the State Department to supply all documents pertaining to Kissinger's role in the wiretapping. Whether or not Kissinger answered fully and truthfully in his earlier testimony is the point at issue. If this point is resolved in his favor, as we hope, that will be time enough for the Senate as a whole to start that his "integrity and veracity are above reproach."

The spoor of the fox

With President Nixon and Secretary of State Kissinger embarking for Moscow in the near future, we are fortunate that John Dornberg—former Newsweek correspondent in Moscow and widely respected authority on the Soviet leadership—has just brought out a penetrating political biography of Leonid Brezhnev. For far too long, Brezhnev has been a faceless man, a nobody who suddenly arrived on the scene with the fall of Khrushchev in 1964. Dornberg's "Brezhnev: The Masks of Power" (Basic Books) goes a long way towards filling that gap.

As he himself is the first to admit, tracking down the history of a Communist party figure is a form of detective work. With the exception of an ebullient extrovert like the late Nikita Khrushchev, it is often impossible to get details on private lives. When did Brezhnev get married? Did he or didn't he serve in the armed forces in the 1930's? These and other simple questions that normally could be settled by reference to standard sources remain unanswered. I was, for example, quite startled to see Brezhnev right behind Khrushchev in a photo of the famous "kitchen debate" the Soviet party chief had with Vice President Nixon in July, 1959.

The Politburo, summoned the Central Committee and triumphed.

Dornberg suggests that one of Brezhnev's strongest suits is his close relationship with the military: both Marshal Andrei Grechko and Admiral Sergei Gorshkov are old companions, and Brezhnev's apparently outstanding war record (he was not a political commissar who sat in rear headquarters) endeared him to a wide range of high military officials. Naturally enough he has kept these relationships warm by appropriate budgetary payoffs to the elite on Frunze St.—Moscow's equivalent to the Pentagon.

Probably the most significant conclusion that emerges from Dornberg's book, one which runs against the conventional wisdom that the present Soviet elite is composed of second-rate clods, is that Brezhnev is an extremely intelligent man with a superb sense of timing. Moreover, again contrary to various commentators who have Brezhnev's position is (by Soviet standards) quite secure; and, second, that the degree to which he is personally relaxed can be estimated from the fact that his apartment is on a floor between those of the head of the uniformed police and the head of the secret police (KGB). He is no paranoid Stalin sequestered in a private fortress.

TO QUOTE Dornberg: "Brezhnev is the Soviet 'boss' today. He got where he is through patronage, intrigue, manipulation, maneuvering, and political influence peddling. . . . Brezhnev's political machine is undoubtedly a precision instrument. But its smooth operation is not the only explanation for its durability. . . . Unlike Lenin, Stalin, and Khrushchev, he has never chosen an heir." In the strategic terms that Mr. Nixon and Secretary Kissinger must contemplate, his top priority has been to quiet things down in the West so that China, seen as the top enemy, can be dealt with. Not the least of his accomplishments in the respect has been to get the United States to accept the post-war status quo in Europe and, in effect, accept the USSR as an equal on the world stage.

In psychological terms I would argue further that Brezhnev has recently managed to outfox the Americans at virtually every turn. He has managed to present the picture of a United States grateful for the favors it has received from Moscow; for example, the great favor they did us by taking our surplus wheat off our hands, and, for another, by permitting American corporations to move in and compensate for Soviet technological incompetence. I hope President Nixon and Secretary Kissinger will keep their wallets securely buttoned: their next favor could be to exchange a nonaggression pact for the elimination of NATO.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, JUNE 22

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Don't put too much trust in a supposedly "confidential" report. Rumors and conjectures are likely to be rife at this time.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Mixed influences. Expect the unexpected. Others involved in your activities may have misunderstood certain arrangements.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

A day for listening! In even a casual conversation you may pick up a most useful idea where money matters are concerned.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

An excellent day for making travel plans, whether for pleasure or business. Family concerns also governed by friendly aspects.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

One of those days when a snap decision could turn out surprisingly well — especially if an unusual purchase is involved.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Someone in authority will now take action to aid your cause — increasing your chances for success considerably. You have good reason for optimism.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Watch the budget now. Reject any ideas for travel or entertainment which you can't really afford. Tendency is to be reckless.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Your judgment a bit off now. Take nothing for granted, even if all seems well. And, above all, make no hasty decisions.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Don't plan any hectic activities. Day will be more satisfactory if you can get off by yourself and do some constructive thinking.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Don't fret if it becomes necessary to sacrifice some leisure time to business matters. Results will more than make up for your disappointment.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Look for a highly stimulating weekend. Both travel and social activities should prove enlivening. Romance also favored.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A clash of temperaments could cause needless friction. Don't jeopardize an old friendship by becoming overly emotional.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely practical, conscientious and self-controlled individual. Generally speaking, you are one of our more serious-minded and solid citizens but as a carryover from the now descending Gemini, the sobriety of your nature is lightened by flashes of a brilliant but dry wit and a happy disposition. In all your endeavors, you use striking methods and unique but completely feasible procedures. Like the Gemini, you have a gift for words and a talent for music which, properly developed, could lead to great success as a writer, composer, instrumentalist or journalist. The theater is also an excellent medium for your talents and, with your Cancer-endowed compassion for your fellowman, you would make an excellent physician, nurse or sociologist. Traits to curb: obstinacy and jealousy.

Allocated cash for state setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Public Welfare has allocated $1.5 million to fund the state's Neighborhood Youth Worker program for another year, the Ohio Youth Commission reported Thursday.

Commission Director Joseph L. White said the program, which serves seven Ohio cities, was to have ended June 30.

Ohio Perspective

Ohio solons seeking larger hearing room

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Abortion, gun control, women's rights and other emotionally charged issues that bring citizens to the Statehouse in hordes may be easier to handle in the future.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellair, has asked a review committee on legislative space needs to recommend a large public hearing room to accommodate 400-500 persons.

At present the biggest room available to House committees can take about 150-200 shoulder-to-shoulder. The overflow usually stands in the capitol rotunda to listen on loudspeakers.

The House is acquiring access to the entire southern half of the Statehouse with the departure of other state offices to the new 41-story State Office Tower across the street.

Speaker Pro Tem Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, is chairman of the 14-member committee of legislators who will determine how to use the new space.

Brown, one of the deans among lieutenant governors in the country, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate last year.

His statement came within minutes after William B. Saxbe, the Republican squire of Mechanicsburg, said he would not seek re-election. Saxbe now is attorney general.

Ohio GOP leaders did some persuading and got Brown to drop out of the race and seek re-election as lieutenant governor. Burgess said Brown's chances for political advancement have virtually been wiped out by the maneuvering.

Perk won the party's senatorial nomination and will oppose former astronaut John Glenn, Democrat, in the November general election.

Tax revolt fears prove unfounded

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Donald Alexander says a predicted Watergate-related tax revolt against the IRS this year did not materialize.

He told the national convention of the Jaycees here that 6.2 per cent more income tax returns were filed this year than last.

Dear Abby:

Bank teller makes a $1000 mistake

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because of a recent and very serious mistake I made in my work.

I am a teller in a commercial bank. As you know, we handle a lot of money and carry a tremendous responsibility to ourselves, our employers and the public. I have never been able to understand why John Q. Public does not count his money before leaving the window. And why, if he knows a mistake has been made in his favor, doesn't he speak up?

I balanced out short yesterday. VERY short. ($1,000.) As you can assume, the money went out the window to a customer. Can you answer my questions? No one seems able to.

SHORT IN LUBBOCK

DEAR SHORT: John Q. Public is not one man—he is many men. Some Johns always count their money; some never do. Some will speak up on discovering an error has been made in their favor; some will not.

Since it's the teller's responsibility to balance out accurately, he should then insist that the recipient count it again in his presence. It takes a little more time, but it beats being $1,000 short, no?

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is nearly 80, told my brother that his will leaves me a silver dollar, and everything else is divided between my brother and my father's sisters. I want to know if there is any way I can break that will because of the following facts, which are absolutely true:

I am physically handicapped and have been since birth, but I have always been able to get around enough to do all the cooking and housekeeping. When my mother died, I was only 14. My father forced me to have sex with him. He never wanted me to have any boyfriends, but when I was 50 years old I got a boyfriend who had to sneak me out of the house to marry me, but I wouldn't come back.

I think after keeping house for my father for 36 years I am entitled to something, don't you? Can his will be broken? And if so, how?

WONDERING IN N.Y.

DEAR WONDERING: Take these facts to a lawyer and let him advise you. You have nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: My youngest sister is being married next month, which will make me the only one in our family who isn't married.

I've been going with the same fellow for three years now, but we don't have any plans for getting married. I just dread the remarks I know I am going to hear after my sister gets married: "Well, it's your turn now," and "When will you be taking the big step?"

Relatives and friends have already asked me what I'm waiting for. It embarrasses and hurts me, and I never know what to say. Can you help?

NO PLANS

DEAR NO: Yes. Say, "I have no plans. But if and when I have, I'll let you know."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M." A soft answer still turneth away wrath . . . and grievous words stir up anger. (This is nothing new. It's Old Testament.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 21, the 172nd day of 1974. There are 193 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1788, the U.S. Constitution went into effect as New Hampshire became the ninth state to ratify it.

On this date — In 1834, the American inventor, Cyrus McCormick, was granted a patent on his reaping machine.

In 1898, the first U.S. troops landed in Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1919, in World War I, part of a German fleet interned at Scapa Flow in Scotland was scuttled by the German crewmen.

In 1942, in World War II, 30,000 British soldiers were taken prisoner as the stronghold of Tobruk in Libya fell to the Germans.

In 1945, Japanese forces on the island of Okinawa surrendered to the Americans.

In 1963, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Milan, Italy was elected Pope. He took the name, Paul the VI.

Ten years ago: Communist China warned under-developed nations that they would become subject to Soviet domination if they accepted aid from the Soviets.

Five years ago: At least 62 persons were killed when an express train derailed near Benares, India.

One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court handed down a new set of guidelines on obscenity, giving local authorities more control over books, magazines, plays and motion pictures.

State cyclists to receive pay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the first time, Ohio will pay state employees who use their motorcycles for state business. They'll get six cents a mile.

John B. Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management, also announced Thursday that the state will boost the amount it pays employees who use their cars on state business by 20 per cent.

Olsen said the increase from 10 cents to 12 cents a mile will cost Ohio $500,000 to $600,000 a year.

"I would have called you much sooner, Doctor, but frankly we didn't even notice she had the measles."

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS VICKERS

Vows exchanged in June

Fayette Bible Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Patti Ann McCollister and Thomas William Vickers.

Pastor Denny Howard performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCollister, Rt. 1, Clarksburg, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vickers of Marmet, W. Va.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Joyce Hidy, organist, and Ross Patton, brother-in-law of the bride, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her formal length polyester gown was styled with a Victorian neckline, embroidered empire bodice with Venice lace and seed pearls and Victorian sleeves. The gathered skirt flowed into a flounce at the hemline. Her head-piece featured an open-crown and was camelot-style of nylon lace and seed pearls with an attached chapel train of imported illusion. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies and baby's breath centered with a corsage of yellow and white roses.

Mrs. Ross Patton, sister of the bride, and the honor attendant, wore a green gingham formal length gown with white eyelet trim. She carried a white basket of yellow daisies and baby's breath. The bridesmaids were the Misses Cheryl Pullins of Nitro, W. Va., Mary Engleberth of Paris, Ill., and Nancy Estep of Frankfort. Their formal length yellow gingham gowns were styled like that of the honor attendant. Each carried a white basket with white daisies and baby's breath.

Little Tammy Fry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fry of Mount Sterling, was the flower girl. Matthew McClish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McClish of Washington C.H., was the ring bearer.

Steve Vickers of Marmet, brother of the groom, served as best man and wedding guests were seated by Tom Worley and Dan Fisher, both of West Virginia and Galen Shoaff of Johnstown, Pa., David McCollister, brother of the bride, was the acolyte.

Miss Jan Haynes of Cincinnati, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book, and another cousin, Miss Terri Hoover of Columbus, assisted with the gifts.

A reception was given by the bride's parents in the church social room. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Robert Haynes, Mrs. Cathy Caplinger, Mrs. Lloyd Bowdle and Mrs. Robert Browning.

The new Mrs. Vickers graduated from Adena High School in 1971 and Appalachian Bible Institute in 1974. Her husband is a 1970 graduate of East Bank High School, Charleston, W. Va., and a 1974 graduate of the Appalachian Bible Institute. He is employed at Orient State Hospital.

Following a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Vickers are residing in Bloomington. In the near future, the couple will attend candidate school with Worldwide European Fellowship, looking toward the mission field of Ireland.

DKG tours Laurel Oaks

Thirty-three members of Delta Kappa Gamma toured the Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus near Wilmington for the program of the final meeting for this year.

Preceding the tour, members met for a luncheon at the Wilmington Elks Club. Miss Helen Hutson, outgoing president, was presented the past president's pin in recognition of her year as the society's president. The pin was presented by Mrs. Charlene Mace, a past president.

The tour of the joint vocational school was conducted by Exley Wical, director of the high school division of LOCDC. Mr. Wical described many of the two-year programs in business, cosmetology, foods preparation, carpentry, masonry, motel management, and various shop skills as the members walked through the corresponding departments.

Mrs. Zoe Garinger of Bloomington, has returned home after attending the Methodist Conference at Lakeside. While in the area she visited her daughter, Mrs. Willis Mason and family in Toledo.

Miss Clark announces wedding plans

Miss Deborah Ann Clark, bride-elect of Jay Mathew Cottrill, has announced her final plans for their marriage, which will take place at 2 p.m. June 29 in the Sesquicentennial Chapel, on the Miami University campus at Oxford.

The Rev. Alan deCourcy will officiate.

Miss Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Clark, 609 Belle-Aire Place, and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Cottrill, Rt. 1, New Holland, are the parents of the prospective bridegroom.

Miss Clark has asked Miss Ellen Dandino of Girard to be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Ruth Nicklet of Hamilton, Miss Jan Levy of Dayton, both college roommates of the bride-elect, and Mr. Cottrill's sister, Mrs. Sharon Edmonson of New Holland.

Larry Ankron of Arlington, Va., will serve as best man, and Rex Taylor of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Ken Newton of Chillicothe, and David Steinhauser, a cousin from New Holland, will seat the wedding guests.

Hostesses for the reception will be

Schelenz, and Miss Robyn Clark, cousins of the bride-elect, and Brenda Steinhauser, cousin of the prospective groom.

Mrs. Diffendal honored at dinner-party

Mrs. Doris Diffendal was honored by the staff of The Fayette County Health Department with a dinner party at the Terrace Lounge. Mrs. Diffendal is retiring June 30th, after eighteen and one-half years as Clerk-Registrar of the Fayette County Health Department.

She was wearing an orchid corsage from her long time friend and former co-worker, Mrs. Bernard Witherspoon.

As a token of appreciation for the years of service the Staff member presented her with a hand engraved gold locket with the years of service engraved on the back. The members of the Board of Health presented her with a lovely Daulton figurine. She was also presented the floral arrangement of spring flowers that was used as the centerpiece.

Those attending were: William E. Covert, DVM, Health Commissioner, Mr. Charles Funk, Mrs. John Richards, Mrs. Michael Vrettos, Mrs. Richard Fenton, Mrs. Warren Pollock, Mrs. Michael Inskeep, Mrs. Ralph Douglass, Mrs. Gene Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Derrell Brown, Mrs. Charlotte Montoya, Mrs. Richard Maddux and Mrs. Witherspoon.

Rev. and Mrs. Wiley R. Baker, 223 W. Circle Ave., attended church services and the newly inaugurated "G.H. Armstrong Day" at the Adelphi United Methodist Church in Ross County on Sunday. Rev. Baker had a part in the afternoon program, which was presented in honor of the late G.H. (Hurst) Armstrong, a lifelong resident of that area who had attended the Adelphi Methodist Church 81 years, having missed not more than 20 services during that period of time. He was superintendent of the church Sunday School for 35 years. Rev. Baker was pastor of the Laurelville Trinity and Adelphi U.M. churches before his retirement from United Methodist Conference, June 1972.

Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Warren and children, Gregory and Kelley of Evansville, Ind., were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Kelley on Thursday, and toured the Fayette County Museum while here. Mr. Warren is president of the Unigraphic Inc. Publishing Co., which printed Mr. Kelley's book, "Down Through the Golden Years," and brought 250 additional copies of the second printing of the book.

Dollar growing more respectable

NEW YORK (AP) — That $2-billion surplus in the nation's balance of payments during the first three months of the year will likely contribute to an even further increase in the dollar's respectability.

In the eyes of foreigners, the dollar has been growing increasingly attractive in recent weeks, despite its frayed edges. Some of the petroleum exporting nations are becoming its big supporters.

Illustrating this, foreign bank deposits have been rising in recent weeks. Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. estimates that more than $1 billion poured into U.S. banks from foreign institutions in the 30 days to mid-June.

This increase, it said, brought the total second-quarter influx to about $3.5 billion. Among the reasons given for the renewed interest in the dollar was the high rate of interest offered.

The bank, which closely follows developments in foreign exchange, noted that the dollar now was firm against all other major currencies, and much stronger in relation to some.

The biggest gain noted for the period from May 13 to June 18 was against the German mark, about 4.75 per cent, and the Italian lira. Against the Japanese yen, the dollar gained 1.75 per cent.

In general, the improvement seems to indicate relatively greater confidence in the U.S. economy, despite its problems, than in the economies of other industrial nations.

Civil service changes urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Titles such as secretary and clerk-typist have demeaning connotations and should be eliminated from Civil Service classifications, the University of Toledo Women's Organization says.

The group told the Ohio Civil Service Study Commission Thursday that terms which "imply work of a limited nature" should be abolished.

"We propose the substitution of the classification titles to 'administrative aide', that is 'aide to the administrators,'" the organization said in a statement presented at a commission hearing.

The group noted that secretaries are not always women. And it said the titles should be more descriptive of the "complex and involved work we perform."

That includes working in research projects, preparing staff papers, drafting letters, supervising personnel and generally participating at high administrative levels," it said.

The study commission also heard from the chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents and the president of the Ohio State University as part of its indepth look at Ohio's Civil Service laws.

Chancellor James A. Norton testified that universities should retain general responsibility on personnel.

"A small coterie of highly qualified personnel consultants should be recruited and established to advise and assist the personnel directors on each campus," he said.

Norton told the panel it should recommend an acceptance of greater administrative flexibility within the Civil Service system.

OSU president Dr. Harold Enarson said it is obvious there is much dissatisfaction with the present system of employee classification and compensation.

"Because of the rigidities of the system as it has developed, we are forced to improvise in ways that make us look uncooperative — possibly evasive," Enarson said.

Guard needs more men

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Adj. Gen. Dana L. Stewart said Thursday the Ohio Army National Guard will be 2,000 short of authorized strength in two years unless present recruiting and re-enlistment rates improve.

"It could mean the elimination of some guard units so others could be maintained at effective strength," he said.

Stewart noted that six-year enlistments of many who joined the guard between 1968 and 1970, during the height of the Vietnam conflict, will be expiring through 1976.

The guard currently is 700 short of authorized strength.

OSU president Dr. Harold Enarson said it is obvious there is much dissatisfaction with the present system of employee classification and compensation.

"Because of the rigidities of the system as it has developed, we are forced to improvise in ways that make us look uncooperative — possibly evasive," Enarson said.

"Neither the incredibly complex personnel requirements of our institutions or the compensation of its employees can be adequately dealt with by a common 'system' with all other agencies of state government," he said.

Enarson called for a classification and compensation system that acknowledges the special needs of a university and provides for a flexibility to accommodate the variety and diversity among the institutions themselves.

The 14-member commission is to prepare a report at the conclusion of its hearings for submission to Gov. John J. Gilligan and the Ohio General Assembly.

Go-Go dancer age limit set

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Eighteen-year-olds couldn't be go-go dancers in Mansfield under an ordinance proposed by the city council.

But Mayor Richard Porter has refused to sign the proposed ordinance, declaring he would not "be a party to putting a lid on those years after the voters of Ohio have recognized 18 as the age of legal accessibility."

Porter said the proposal is aimed at keeping those under 21 out of establishments that sell liquor.

The ordinance becomes law without the mayor's signature in 10 days.

Population growth for the United States from 1970 to mid-1972 was 2.46 per cent. Population growth for the Appalachian region was 2.44 per cent.

Bus drivers reject contract

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The latest contract offer to striking bus drivers of the Lake Shore System has been rejected.

Drivers, who have been off the job 25 days, voted Thursday to turn down the contract proposal which was worked out by bargainners for union drivers and mechanics, Lake Shore officials and a federal mediator.

No new contract talks were scheduled.

The Lake Shore System links Columbus with Pittsburgh, Pa., and serves several other Ohio cities.

Prime-time television rule freeze causes problems

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks say a federal appeals court ruling freezing the prime-time access rule is forcing a hurried reshuffling of the fall program lineup.

The networks say some of the programs may be shifted to other nights, bumping shows already scheduled for those nights. Still other programs may not debut until January as a result of Tuesday's ruling by a three-judge panel in the U.S. Court of Appeals here.

The controversy centers on the 1971 access rule limiting a network to no more than three hours of programming in the peak evening viewing hours between 7 and 11 p.m.

Late last year the Federal Communications Commission said it would modify the rule, allowing the networks to use all four prime-time hours on Saturday and Sunday as well as an additional half-hour during the week to televise a documentary, public affairs program or children's special. In February the FCC said it planned to implement the access rule changes this September.

The National Association of Independent Television Producers and Distributors filed suit to block the effective date. The appeals court agreed that revising the prime time rules this year would cause serious harm to independent producers, who sell syndicated shows to stations anxious to fill the broadcast time barred to the networks. The court said no change can be made at least until September, 1975.

The ruling means that the networks will have to eliminate one hour of fall programming scheduled for the 7 to 8 p.m. Sunday night slot as well as the week night half-hour.

Woman returns, finds furniture items gone

Items of furniture were mistakenly carted from a Washington C.H. woman's home because it was thought she had moved, and the theft of a statue were the offenses reported by city police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating the disappearance of a money bag containing $50 from Bolen's Grocery store in Bloomingburg.

Delores Myers, 631 E. Market St., returned to her home Thursday, after being gone since Monday, to find her white Tappan gas range, a 19-inch television set and a 20-inch television set missing, along with a blonde bedroom suite consisting of a bed-frame, vanity and dresser and a metal bookcase, two dozen towels, several assorted toys and three sheets.

She reported the theft to police, who during their investigation discovered the house she had been renting had been rented to some other people who were told by the owner the items left behind must have been discarded.

FAA official to speak at airport here

An area representative from the Federal Aviation Administration will visit the Fayette County Airport at 4 p.m. Saturday to discuss with the staff and local pilots some of the many aspects of flying safely in small private planes.

Alexander P. Butterfield, director of the FAA in Washington D.C., has selected the local airport as one of the facilities nationwide which will be visited during the next month under "Operation Ground Assist."

The program is designed to combat the incidence of accidents involving private planes. According to the FAA, accidents involving light private planes are proportionately much higher than in other areas of air travel, especially on the weekends.

Leo Wonderly will be the speaker here. He is the FAA representative for this region.

Area pilots are urged to attend.

Police did not say where the possessions were taken or whether or not the owner would be able to get them back.

A statue was taken from the porch of the Mrs. Alfred Cornell residence 1430 Lindberg Drive, sometime between 9 a.m. Wednesday and 4:43 p.m. Thursday.

Police estimated the value of the statue at $25.

A First National Bank money bag containing $16 in checks and $50 in cash was removed from under the counter at Bolen's Grocery store in Bloomingburg, between noon and 1 p.m. Thursday.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft.

Jurors seated for trial in Ross County

CHILLICOTHE — A jury was seated and opening statements were heard Thursday in the Ross County Common Pleas Court trial of three Lucasville prison inmates charged with kidnapping, escape from custody and trespassing.

The jury was finally seated at 2 p.m. after 20 additional prospective jurors were summoned Thursday morning.

The trio on trial, Donald Nickerson, 45, Vandalia, Robert Laws, 27, Columbus, David Pilkington, 29, Olmstead, were apprehended by Washington C.H. Police and Fayette County sheriff's deputies after they overpowered an elderly Franklin County sheriff's deputy transporting them from the prison to Columbus.

A fourth convict, Doyle Manning, was killed in an exchange of gunfire with police.

Two local law enforcement officers, Sheriff's Sgt. William Crooks and Patrolman Michael Stritenberger are to testify in the case.

Boosters set meet

A special meeting has been scheduled by the Washington Senior High School band boosters club at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the high school choir room.

All members are urged to attend.

DIVORCE ACTIONS FILED

Betty M. Brill, Greenfield-Sabina Rd., has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for divorce from Harry L. Brill on grounds of neglect and cruelty. The parties were married here Feb. 19, 1972 and have one child, according to the petition. The plaintiff is seeking alimony, custody and support.

Roberta Jo Carr, 1308 Lindberg Ave., has filed for divorce from Ralph D. Carr Jr., 1227 Rawlings St., on grounds of neglect and cruelty. The parties were married Oct. 28, 1971 at Georgetown, Ky., and have two children, according to the petition. The plaintiff is seeking custody and support.

Milford Stiffler, Washington Inn, has filed for divorce from Donna M. Stiffler, 104 E. Market St. The plaintiff claims that the defendant has been guilty of neglect and states that the parties have lived separately without interruption for a period of two years, therefore making him entitled to a divorce. The parties have one child who does not reside with the parents, according to the petition.

CIVIL CASE JUDGMENT

Judge Evelyn W. Coffman, Court of Common Pleas, has overruled the Washington C.H. Zoning Board of Appeals in her judgment on a suit filed by Chester and Betty Estep, 902 Pearl St. The zoning board had denied the parties' application for a zoning variance to sell Christmas trees at their residence, and the board of appeals had upheld the decision. However, the judge overturned the board's decision stating that it was proper for the couple to again sell the Christmas trees as they have done for many years in the past.

Traffic Court

A Washington C.H. man pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Thursday to a charge of driving while intoxicated filed by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Acting Judge Omar Schwartz presided over the courtroom in the absence of Judge Reed M. Winegardner, who is vacationing with his wife in Florida.

Robert L. Jordan, 36, of 1200 Nelson Place, was fined $250, sentenced to three days in jail, and received a 30-day suspension of his operator's license after he pleaded guilty to the DWI charge.

Four other cases were scheduled for hearing, all of which were filed by city police.

Fined: William R. Reed Sr., 28, Bloomingburg, $20, reckless operation. John D. Zugg, 19, Midland, $15, opening a car door into traffic.

Bond forfeitures: James W. Fichner, 20, of 312 N. North St., $60, driving a motorcycle without a motorcycle license.

Richard A. Jobst, 24, of 625 Vine St., $60, reckless operation.

Jamestown man gets suspended jail term

A Jamestown man was fined $50 and was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence after he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a charge of criminal mischief.

Kenny R. Williams, 20, was sentenced by acting Judge Omar Schwartz, who presided in the absence of Judge Reed M. Winegardner.

The charge, essentially the same as malicious destruction of property under the older version of the Ohio Revised Code, was filed on a private warrant.

'Tecumseh!' sets premier tonight

CHILLICOTHE—The outdoor historical drama "Tecumseh!" will debut for its second season in a special premier performance tonight at the Sugarloaf Mountain amphitheater.

The premier program will begin at 8 p.m. and the first performance will start at 8:45 p.m.

W. L. Mundell, Scioto Society president, said the original script, presented for the first time last year, has undergone several major re-writes and major revisions made in the drama.

He said the script has been tightened to eliminate some of the dialogue and increase the action. No indoor scenes will be utilized this year; and portions of the stage are being rebuilt to increase visibility for the audience.

Mel Cobb is returning in the title role.

The Union Township Zoning Board of Appeals authorized two variances for mobile homes and issued 12 building permits at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

Boy saved; was shot in head

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A Cleveland doctor says reare-used neurosurgical techniques saved the life of a 16-year-old boy who had been shot in the head.

The youth, Floyd Andres, is reported recovering at Highland View Hospital. Dr. Robert J. White, director of neurosurgery at Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital, said the bullet ripped through Andres' brain.

Part of the brain was cut away, he said, and a second operation became necessary because of an infection from the bullet in the brain chambers.

The surgeon said in the second operation a technique was used similar to that used in draining fluids from the skulls of children with hydrocephalus.

If it hadn't been for the "drains and shunts" that were used, "this boy would not be here," White said.

Andres, a former track star at Lincoln High West, was wounded March 29 in an argument. White said the youth suffered permanent damage but "he can be educated and can be self-supporting."

Alfred Lininger, board secretary and township zoning inspector, said a variance was granted to Larry Coil to place a mobile home for a night watchman at the Tempo Trucking Co. lot. Another variance was granted to Donald Palmer to place a mobile home at the rear of 4108 Washington-Waterloo Road on land purchased from Elmer Palmer.

Building permits issued were: Thomas Van Bibber, garage in Von Steuben Subdivision, $2,000; Ohio Shelterall Co., two signs on U.S. 22-E; Robert Gifford, garage at 1425 Forest St., $1,000; Duane C. # White tigers born at Cincy Zoo

By NORM CLARKE
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Whining and whimpering, three white Bengal tiger cubs described as "cute as buttons" were being watched round-the-clock today after astonishing experts with one of the rarest births recorded in zoo annals.

The zoo famed for its fertility rate among lowland gorillas hit a bonanza Thursday with the arrival of the three cubs in a four-cub litter.

Cincinnati Zoo officials celebrated "The Year of the Tiger" with a trio of the rare cats.

An eight-year-old female Bengal named Kesari produced the exotic offspring. Their fur is presently gray-toned against black stripes.

Not albinos, the three cubs join a threatened specie which at last count numbered about 30 in the world.

"She is taking good care of two of them," said Pepper Wilson, spokesman for the country's second oldest zoo. "She is licking their ears and nursing them."

But she rejected two others that we have determined are males," he said. One of the cubs is a regular orange-hued Bengal, but has the power to reproduce the endangered breed.

The two rejected cubs are getting the kid glove treatment. Bottle-fed with a concentrated milk liquid and coddled by an 80-degree incubator, the two became instant hits at the 99-year-old zoo.

"We had people jammed in the building a couple hours after news of the births got around," said Wilson. Closed eyelids hide the animals' icy-blue eyes.

Their noses and paw pads are pink. Survival of the four is the primary concern at the moment.

"Anyone with so much as a case of the sniffles doesn't get close to them. We're not taking any chances. We're pulling all stops to give them the best chances," said Wilson. "This is important to the world."

Smock-wearing workers gingerly handle the two males in the incubators. But no one is being allowed near the mother and her two white rarities.

"A sudden noise or anything that would frighten her and she'd kill the babies," he said.

"The situation with all of them will remain critical for several days. This

ORDINANCE NO. 29-74

An emergency ordinance fixing the compensation of various positions, offices and employees of the City of Washington, Ohio.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WASHINGTON, FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO:

SECTION 1. That effective January 1, 1974 the positions, offices, and employees set forth herein shall be paid an annual salary in accordance with the following schedule:

race of tiger has a history of genetic problems," he said. The father of the kittens died in the past week.

The births more than doubled the population of the white Bengal family in the U.S. Only nine have been sighted in India since the turn of the century.

All five of the U.S. tigers are descendants of Mohan, a male taken into captivity during a 1951 hunt in India.

Kesari was loaned to Cincinnati by the National Zoo in Washington, D.C.

Aronoff says Congress must curb data

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, has told a congressional committee it is up to them to restrict use of computer data.

Aronoff testified that his proposed Ohio law was killed by a coalition of his own colleagues and special interest groups.

"Until Congress acts, I doubt that there will be much significant legislation," Aronoff told the Government Operations and Constitutional Rights joint subcommittee.

The Cincinnati Republican told the committee his bill which would have curbed the selling of information to computer banks without permission, had no opposition during five hearings.

He said he took it to the Senate floor to bring out any opposition. His colleagues killed the measure 21-10 on June 5.

Aronoff said the governor's office, which testified for the bill, lobbied actively against its passage.

He called the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants the measure's most active opponent. Aronoff said the council organized a "barrage of telegrams and acted as coordinating unit for some of the other lobbies."

"By the time the bill came to a vote, the list of opponents was a 'Who's Who'

of almost every registered lobbyist in Ohio. And some that were not registered," Aronoff recalled.

He was one of two state legislators—the other was from California—on a 25-member national committee that studied abuses of computer data.

Two bills similar to the one Aronoff introduced in Ohio are pending before Congress.

FBI agents cautioned

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has warned FBI law enforcement officers that "hunters should not adopt the tactics of the hunted."

"Dirty tricks are over in politics and at the FBI," Saxbe told 200 officers Thursday at the FBI National Academy here.

He said there is a need for "proper" intelligence gathering operations when national security is jeopardized.

But he referred to a memo made public last year about an FBI campaign to break up the New Left, and said the FBI in that case had overstepped the requirements of national security.

Saxbe urged the officials to be "totally fair at all times and to protect the rights of the individual and of society."

"Don't short circuit the legal process," he said.

Solomon and Aristotle both sang the praises of honey.

Major League roundup

Phils fall to Mets, 2-1

By The Associated Press

Jerry Koosman shook off Jerry Grote. Then Mike Schmidt shook up Jerry Koosman.

Picking on a Koosman curve ball, the Philadelphia slugger belted a ball to the base of the center field wall before Dave Schneck hauled it in.

That out preserved a 2-1 victory for the New York Mets Thursday night but left Koosman shaking his head.

"It was a tough, exciting game and I should have made better pitches," said Koosman after giving up 11 hits to the National League East leaders. "There were pitches they should have hit and didn't. It was a struggle."

Koosman was in trouble down to the end, when the Phillies had a man on first and second base with two out and the dangerous Schmidt at the plate.

With the count three balls and one strike, New York catcher Grote called for a fastball and then a curve, but Koosman decided against both.

"If Schmidt is going to beat me, it's going to be with an offspeed pitch," said Koosman.

The left-hander offered a "knee-high curveball away" and Schmidt belted it about as far as you can inside spacious Veterans Stadium.

In the only other National League game Thursday, the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0. In the American League, the Minnesota Twins trimmed the Chicago White Sox 3-2; the Milwaukee Brewers blanked the Baltimore Orioles 6-0; the Texas Rangers turned back the California Angels 7-4 and the Oakland A's defeated the Kansas City Royals 4-0.

Cubs 3, Pirates 0

Home runs by Jose Cardenal and Billy Williams led Chicago over Pittsburgh, ending the Pirates' victory string at six games.

Twins 3, White Sox 2

Tony Oliva cracked a three-run homer off Wilbur Wood in the eighth inning, propelling Minnesota past Chicago.

Brewers 6, Orioles 0

Milwaukee, powered by John Briggs' first-inning grand-slam homer, whipped Baltimore behind the combined six-hitter of Ed Sprague and Tom Murphy.

Rangers 7, Angels 4

Tom Grieve's three-run double highlighted a four-run rally in the eighth and powered Texas over California.

A's 4, Royals 0

Jim "Catfish" Hunter ended a personal three-game losing streak by pitching a five-hitter to pace Oakland over Kansas City.

Hunter, 9-8, outdueled Al Fitzmorris, 6-3, to put the frontrunning A's 1 1/2 games up on the Royals in the hot American League West race.

Harris resigns from Unioto

Unioto High School, which entered the South Central Ohio League this past spring, is now without a basketball and golf coach. Mike Harris, who just completed his first year as head basketball mentor, submitted his resignation to Unioto Superintendent Ralph Brown.

In his first season, Harris guided the Shermans to a 15-5 record. Unioto clinched championships in the Ross County League and the Scioto Valley Conference.

In golf, the Shermans captured the South Central Ohio League title and the sectional championship.

Prior to this season, Harris, who is 25, spent two years as the reserve basketball coach at Unioto. As of yet, he has no definite plans but he is looking for another coaching position.

His resignation from both coaching and teaching positions will be submitted to the Unioto Board of Education on July 8.

Girls softball

In the Class B Division play, Hidy's romped over VFW 16-8. Kathy Hanners and Toni Smith homered for VFW, while Zina Tate turned in a triple play for Hidy's.

Nine-run rally fatal in Jeff Lions' loss

Jamestown No. 2 rallied for nine runs in the second frame to pull out a 13-8 victory over the Jeff Lions in the Jeffersonville Babe Ruth League, Thursday evening.

Walks haunted the Lions' pitchers, as they gave up 14 bases on balls. Losing pitcher Payton walked nine batters, while only giving up two hits in his three innings of work.

Weller was the winning pitcher for Jamestown No. 2.

NBA owners reject proposal by players

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association owners have rejected a proposal by the Players' Association on the controversial option clause, thereby continuing to stall the possibility of merger with the American Basketball Association.

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy disclosed Thursday that the owners even refused to vote on a plan that, in effect, would have eliminated the option clause that binds a player to one team.

The plan would have given an NBA team first refusal on any new contract.

For example, if a player completed his contractual obligations with Team A, he then would become a free agent and be able to negotiate with any other club.

Should another club offer him more money, he then would return to

Malone tabs U. of Maryland

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — Recruiting the nation's top high school basketball player, Moses Malone, meant there could be only one happy winner and a lot of losers—some of them sore.

Maryland is the winner, and coach Lefty Driesell believes the 6-foot-11 Malone will make the Terps "the UCLA of the East."

For University of New Mexico Coach Norm Ellenberger, the signing Thursday morning with Malone still half asleep sounds like "a case of his people making the decision for him. It wasn't necessarily what he wanted."

Ellenberger was upset because, when he left this Central Virginia city Thursday morning, Malone had told a television reporter hours earlier that New Mexico likely would be his choice.

By the time the New Mexico coach's plane had landed in Albuquerque, the news was out that the shy, reticent Malone had signed with Maryland.

Apparently Malone's mother was the key factor. Mary Malone had admitted she wanted Moses to play close to home. She was elated when he chose Maryland. "He's going to be close to home ... It's only a 2 1/2-hour ride to Maryland, and I can get to see him play," she said.

Wilson Chevrolet win 15-9 contest

Billie Wilson Chevrolet recorded a 15-9 victory over Dorn-Lewis Insurance of London. Robinson cracked two home runs and collected eight runs batted-in for the winners. Zarse, who was the winning pitcher, also homered.

Billie Wilson's next game will be in London on July 3 at 7 p.m. The team will also be playing in a weekend tournament in New Vienna on July 6-7.

Softball tournaments

Two more softball tournaments are being planned for the upcoming weeks.

Cedarville's Little League is sponsoring a men's tournament for Class B teams on July 6-7 at Community Park in Cedarville. Entry fee for the event is $45 and the deadline is July 4. Any team wishing to enter the tournament should contact William S. Ferguson, 766-5468.

Moore Company is sponsoring a sanctioned tournament in Hillsboro's City Park on June 29-30. Drawing will be held in the park at 7:30 p.m., June 26. Entry fee for the tournament is $50 and teams should contact Bill Jenkins, 393-4178.

TV Viewing

By JERRY BUCK

Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Macy was flat on his back in his one-room apartment in New York recovering from an injury received in "O Calcutta!" The telephone rang.

It was his agent, asking him to audition for a part in a new Broadway show, "And Miss Reardon Drinks Little."

"If you're a professional actor, your head is geared toward a part in a play someone is producing," said Macy, explaining at some length how he came to be Walter on "Maude."

"I'd hurt myself in 'O Calcutta!' doing a leap a year earlier and the pain had come back. The phone rings, and I'm not about to tell a producer about my injury."

Macy said he read for the part and was called back two more times before he got it. After three months on Broadway, the show went on the road, with a final stop in Los Angeles.

In his hotel room in Pittsburgh he saw "All in the Family" for the first time. "I called my agent in New York and told him that when we got to Los Angeles I wanted to play a part in 'All in the Family,'" he said.

"He laughed at me and said, 'Yeah, and who do you know on the show?' He started naming people and when he said Norman Lear I told him to stop."

Norman Lear, executive producer of "All in the Family," had seen Macy several times on Broadway and had written him letters of appreciation. He also had given Macy a walk-on part in "The Night They Raided Minsky's," a movie filmed in New York.

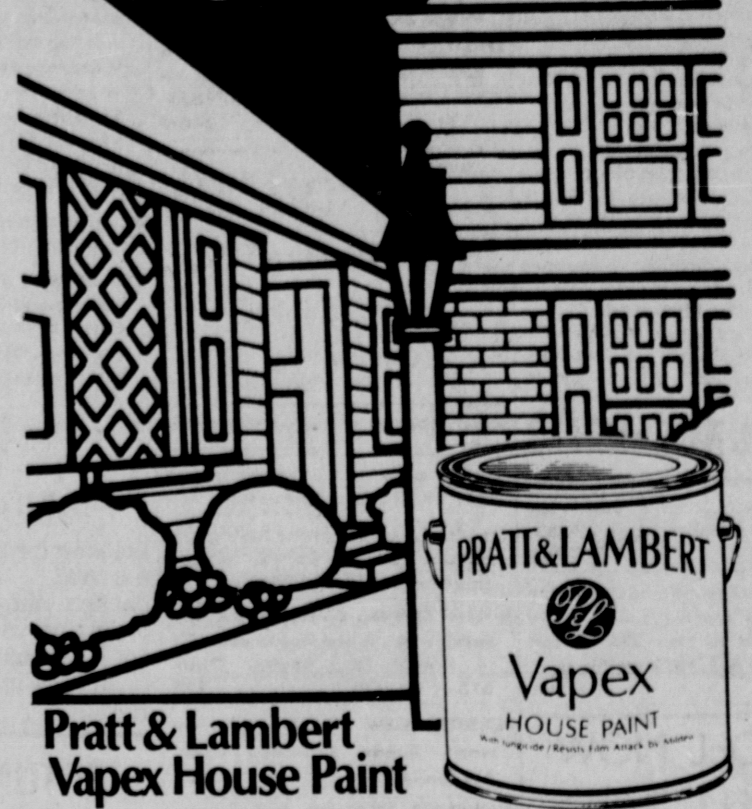

Macy got a part — seven lines as a cop.

After that, Lear created "Maude" and wrote the part of Walter with Macy in mind.

So, at 51, after a long and haphazard career as an actor, never making more than $175 for a role, Macy suddenly became an overnight star.

At present, more than 60 per cent of the Newfoundland government's revenues come from the Canadian federal government.

Injured man removed from creamer tank

"Shall we cut the tank apart or is it possible to remove the man trapped inside through the top opening no bigger than his own body?"

That was the question confronting members of the Washington C.H. fire and police departments, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance personnel and employees of the Avoset Co., 1024 Leesburg Ave., at 11:40 Thursday night, after Craig F. Stewart, 22, of 718 Church St., slipped and fell against a mixer blade while cleaning the inside of a creamer tank at the Avoset Plant and injured his back.

The standard rule when dealing with back injuries is to move the injured person as little as possible, Washington C.H. firemen said.

LT. CECIL SEAMAN, of the Washington C.H. Fire Department, explained, "After lowering a back-board vertically into the tank, it was decided to get Stewart out of the tank the same way, for this was the fastest method."

Lt. Seaman and Washington C. H. fireman Danny Fowler, along with Gerstner-Kinzer attendant, Tom Weaver, entered the creamer tank and strapped Stewart to the board.

Nazarene concludes successful VBS

The pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, the Rev. Dale Orihood, termed the churches' vacation Bible school a complete success.

The school averaged approximately 90 pupils per day, and more than 150 church members attended the final program presented Sunday. Janet Thompson was the Bible school supervisor.

Teachers were Sally Black, Shela Johnson, Pam Jennings, Karol Wolfe and Terry Summers.

Assisting them were Joy Harper, Marilyn Mark, Sharon Anthony, Pam Wylie, Susan Berry, Debbie Johnson, Ruth Knisley, Eloise Summers, Duane Harper, Audra Orr and Hazel Burnett.

3 firefighters take assistant chief test

Three veteran Washington C.H. firemen took a written examination for the position of assistant fire chief Thursday evening. From the three will come the appointment of the first assistant since the current chief, Joe Denen, was appointed to his present position in Feb. 73.

Demo candidate at Jaycee meet

A Democratic Congressional candidate was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Washington C.H. Jaycees this week.

Dr. Lloyd A. Wood, of Chillicothe, who will be opposing incumbent Congressman William H. Harsha in the November general election, spoke to the Jaycees about inflation.

During the business meeting, conducted by President John Marcum, ticket sales for the Lewis Brothers Circus which will be held Saturday night at the Washington Senior High School grounds were discussed in addition to final preparations for the annual Fourth of July celebration activities at the Fayette County Fairground.

Ticket sales for the annual country and western music show on Aug. 10 were also discussed, Marcum said.

Minor mishap checked

An accident involving cars driven by Vernon E. Clay, 43, Rt. 2, and Timothy J. Keaton, 16, of New Holland, occurred in the Borden Burger parking lot, Columbus Avenue, at 11:25 a.m. Thursday, according to city police.

Damage incurred by both autos was estimated as slight.

Ohio soldier electrocuted

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Pvt. Charles P. Miller, 17, of Brunswick, Ohio, was accidentally electrocuted here Wednesday, a spokesman for the U. S. 8th Army said today.

The spokesman said the soldier was guarding army supplies being transported by train and had climbed to the roof of one of the boxcars while the train was stopped at a station in eastern Seoul.

Koreans in the station said Miller was moving from one car to another when he ran into a 25,000-volt electric cable.

Jury being seated for porno trial

Jury selection was still underway in Fayette County Common Pleas Court early Friday afternoon in the trial of two men charged with possession for sale and sale of pornography material.

The two defendants, Michael Marmura, Reynoldsburg, and Robert Lemons, of Greenfield, were arrested in February on a secret grand jury indictment.

Twelve jurors had been seated when the court recessed shortly after 11 a.m. One more juror was to be seated.

These are a few members of the Class of '73 who found what they were looking for in today's Army

For Information, See Your Army Representative, S-Sgt. Bradshaw at 116 E. Main St. in Circleville

Contrary to popular belief, good jobs aren't that hard to find these days. Not, that is, if you know where to look.

And a better place to look than today's Army you won't find. Our confidence is based on these simple facts.

One. We have more jobs to offer the Class of '74 than anyone. Military or civilian. (About 70,000 openings.)

Two. The jobs are the kind you don't usually step into right out of high school. Electronics, construction, computers, technical repair, communications and law enforcement are a few of the over 300 good, steady jobs we offer.

Three. Although the jobs we offer are considered "skilled labor," we don't require that you already possess the skill. We'll teach you everything you need to know in our training courses. (Experience will come on the job.)

Four. You choose the exact job training you want before you enlist. And, if you qualify, you'll get it. Guaranteed in writing.

That's our job offer to the Class of '74. We think it'll pay you to look into it.

After all, look what it did for the Class of '73.

Twisters mark summer arrival

By The Associated Press
Summer arrived today on the heels of a flourish of thunderstorms, high winds and hail that raked a wide stretch of the Midwest.

The storms caused injury and property damage Thursday night and early today in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and touched off forest fires in South Dakota.

Scores of persons were injured in Illinois, where winds up to 85 miles per hour overturned trailers, damaged homes and offices and disrupted electrical power.

More than 3 inches of rain fell on southern Wisconsin, washing out several bridges and flooding secondary roads. Tornadoes felled barns, power lines and trees throughout the southern part of the state.

Winds clocked at between 90 and 100 miles per hour caused extensive damage to homes and crops in southeastern Minnesota.

In South Dakota, a lightning storm Wednesday triggered nearly 40 small forest fires in the southern Black Hills, and another storm Thursday caused several more. An estimated 400 acres of timber have been destroyed.

The front which triggered the storms extended from Montana to the New England coast. The Plains and Southwest baked under temperatures in excess of 100.

Partly cloudy skies were the rule in the Northeast and along the storm front. Scattered showers fell on the lower Atlantic Coast, Ohio Valley, Montana and northern half of the Mississippi Valley. The rest of the nation was under clear skies.

Lowell, a town of about 5,500 persons, was one of the communities hardest hit by the storm, state police said.

Most of the storm damage was confined to half a dozen counties stretching from the Illinois state line to South Bend.

Roofs were blown off about 10 homes and four businesses in Lowell, but no one was seriously hurt.

Part of the roof at Bryan Manufacturing Co., which prepares wiring blocks for automobiles, was caved in by the storm. Clocks in the building stopped at 8:10 p.m.

No one working there at the time was hurt, police said.

Seven Lowell residents were treated for minor injuries.

A truck driver suffered minor head lacerations when a tornado overturned

Colson sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson, once one of President Nixon's highest-ranking advisers, was sentenced today to serve one to three years in prison for obstructing justice.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell also imposed a $5,000 fine.

Maximum penalty on the charge would have been five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

"For 3½ years I worked day and night. I believed I was making a great personal sacrifice for my country," Colson said before sentencing.

"This experience has brought a complete re-examination of myself and I will spend the rest of my life regretting what I have done," he said.

After Colson's 12-minute statement to the judge, his lawyer spent a full half-hour asking that Colson be placed on probation rather than be sent to prison.

Attorney David I. Shapiro told Gesell that Colson should not be sent to prison because of "public expectations."

He said sending Colson to prison "would be, in my view, a most popular decision. It would also be a terribly shortsighted one."

The judge interrupted him saying, "You're barking up the wrong tree. . . . you are beating a dead horse." Gesell said public opinion would not sway him one way or the other.

As he sentenced the defendant, Gesell said, "The court does recognize that Colson's public image was somewhat distorted" but that he had to send him to prison.

The sentence means that Colson must serve at least one year at an institution not yet designated. The judge gave him until July 8 to surrender.

Colson had been charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and obstructing justice in the Watergate cover-up case and with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist in the plumbers case. Both those charges were dismissed today.

Lottery dispute still unsettled

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A legal opinion from the state attorney general may not settle the dispute between the Ohio Lottery Commission and the state auditor's office over payment of prizes to lottery winners.

Deputy State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson, has said he will abide by the attorney general's ruling but says if his position is not upheld he may ask for a court ruling to clarify the issue.

Ferguson got into a heated discussion with commission members Wednesday when he opposed the commission's plan to let ticket agents pay winners of $20 prizes. He said the winners must be paid by check from his office.

The commissioners asked for an attorney general's ruling by 4 p.m. today.

A lottery spokesman said a representative of Ferguson's office had approved the plan and that there will be delays in getting the first ticket sales under way if the system has to be changed.

Ferguson said he is concerned about possibilities of phony tickets being paid by agents.

He said also that since $20 winners will be eligible for the millionaire drawing, the state might be liable if the winner fails to obtain proof that his was a winning ticket.

"We could get around all that if a check is issued," Ferguson said.

A lottery spokesman said all agents would be bonded and that numbers on the winning tickets would enable sales agents to validate them.

Meanwhile, lottery Director John E. Kirkland Jr. said negotiations are under way with Greyhound Computer Corp. here to provide computer services. He estimated the cost at about $2,000 a week.

Lottery officials have said the state's computer in Columbus has been too slow in responding to programs sent from here.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas lawyer Jake Jacobsen has agreed tentatively to plead guilty to a reduced charge of bribery in connection with $10,000 he says he offered to former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally according to informed sources.

Jacobsen, who once swore that Connally refused the money, is offering to testify that Connally actually took it in two installments for help he gave Jacobsen's client, Associated Milk Producers Inc., the sources said. Connally consistently has denied taking the money.

In return for a guilty plea and Jacobsen's promise of cooperation, the Watergate special prosecution force has agreed to drop its perjury case against him and to arrange for the Justice Department to drop an unrelated indictment in a Texas savings-and-loan case.

All told, Jacobsen could receive maximum punishment of up to 40 years and $80,000 in fines if convicted on all counts in the Watergate and Texas cases. Sources said the Watergate prosecutors offered to allow him to plead guilty instead to the least serious felony charge of bribery, which carried a maximum penalty of two years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Food stamp bill sent to President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has sent to President Nixon a bill authorizing a one-year extension of a food stamp program for elderly, blind and disabled welfare recipients.

The measure, approved by the Senate on a voice vote Thursday, has Nixon's support, administration spokesmen said.

Under the bill, needy persons covered by the new Supplemental Security Income program will continue to be eligible for food stamps through July 1, 1975.

second time police "tore apart" the van looking for evidence. A Pasadena Star-News reporter was stopped by officers from three squad cars and four motorcycles after he and his wife, while in a coffee shop, showed interest in a newspaper headline about the three fugitives.

Whether a police officer draws a weapon on a Patricia Hearst look-a-like "depends how strongly he feels she looks like Patty," said a Los Angeles police spokesman, Lt. Dan Cooke.

"Once it's been established they're not who we're looking for, we try to explain the necessity for the guns. Some understand. Others are outraged." Cooke said almost everyone stopped has acknowledged the need for it. "We haven't received a single complaint," he said.

Mark Rosenbaum, an attorney for the American Civil Liberty Union, disputed this, saying: "When the police say they don't receive complaints, that's nonsense. They complain, but not to police."

Milk fund figure to plead guilty in Connally's case

Jacobsen had sought to have all charges reduced to misdemeanors because conviction of a felony almost certainly would lead to loss of his right to practice law, the sources said.

However, the prosecutors insisted on stiffer terms, and Jacobsen's lawyer, Charles A. McNelis, agreed to the bribe charge more than two weeks ago, the sources said. Jacobsen wants to resolve the charges against him because his wife is in poor health and needs constant attention, a source said.

Jacobsen, McNelis and spokesmen for the Justice Department and the Watergate prosecutors all declined comment.

Connally could not be reached but his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, said he had heard rumors of an impending deal.

Jacobsen represented the milk producers in 1971 and arranged for his old friend Connally to work within the administration for an increase in federal milk price supports.

Connally argued strongly for a price increase at a White House meeting at which President Nixon decided to order the hike, a fact sheet issued last January by presidential spokesmen said.

Both Jacobsen and Connally have testified that within a few days of the increase, Jacobsen offered Connally $10,000.

Both said it was not offered as a bribe, but as a fund from which Connally could donate to political candidates.

Students take White House jobs despite Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Used to be, a college kid could impress his friends by landing a summer job at the White House.

But Watergate has changed that. "I've been told I'm signing up on the S.S. Titanic," said Linda Smith, a 22-year-old Wheaton College graduate.

"You say you're working at the White House, and you run into a lot of verbal abuse sometimes," added Michael Mulligan, 21, of Newburyport, Mass. "I come from a Republican conservative area," said Judy Wilson of Cheyenne, Wyo. "And I've had some people say some negative things, like 'How could you go to work for someone up for impeachment?'"

The trio's laughter at each other's stories, underscored, however, what little impact such comments have on the attitudes and enthusiasm of this summer's White House 37 interns.

The 19 women and 18 men were chosen from 350 applicants to work in White House offices including the National Security Council, Domestic Council, news offices and Mrs. Nixon's office.

College students earn $125 a week, graduate students $150.

"I had no second thoughts on coming back after last year," said Miss Smith, of Ardmore, Pa., who works for Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, Helen Smith. (They are not related). "It's an experience I wouldn't get anywhere else. . . . It's seeing what happens in the executive branch from the inside."

Mulligan, a senior at Middlebury College in Vermont, helps with liaison work between the administration and big business.

"I had the impression when I came that everyone in the White House would be totally concerned with saving the President," he said. "But in my office, they're not consumed by Watergate."

Miss Wilson, a 21-year-old Fulbright scholar who recently was graduated from the University of Wyoming, helps edit the news summaries delivered daily to President Nixon and his aides.

titles established, the Lipsetts and their friend, Katie Rowland, stood up and brushed off their clothes. "We were absolutely panicked," Mrs. Lipsett said. "We thought they were going to shoot us."

Other Californians have had similar experiences during the police search for the Harrises and Miss Hearst, the newspaper heiress who was kidnapped Feb. 4 and is now sought as an SLA terrorist.

The FBI says it has no clues to the trio's present whereabouts. The last confirmed sighting was at an Inglewood, Calif., sporting goods store on May 16, the day before six other SLA members died in a fiery shootout with authorities in Los Angeles.

Police say they don't know how many people they have stopped since.

Some persons are merely questioned briefly and released. Others are held at the gunpoint until police establish their identities.

Steve Thorp, 25, who owns a van and lives in Los Angeles' Topanga Canyon, said he was stopped twice, and the

Bombing in Cambodia is studied by panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is concluding six weeks of hearings on impeachment evidence with a study of the secret bombing of Cambodia in 1969-70.

It will still be several weeks before the committee decides whether grounds exist for impeaching President Nixon, however. Witnesses are to be heard, Nixon's defense presented and the proposed articles of impeachment debated.

Today's Cambodian bombing inquiry involves the falsifying of reports to Congress and the destruction of official records to conceal 3,630 B52 sorties into Cambodia during 14 months while the United States officially was recognizing Cambodia's neutrality in the Vietnam war.

While it raises serious constitutional questions relating to a president's war-making powers, it is not regarded by most members as likely to produce an article of impeachment.

The committee delved into Nixon's income tax returns Thursday and learned he had been assessed a 5 per cent negligence penalty by the Internal Revenue Service besides having been found to owe $432,787 in taxes for 1969-72.

However, nearly all members questioned said they heard nothing during the day-long closed session indicating Nixon might be guilty of tax fraud.

In related developments:

—The administration continued its criticism of the Judiciary Committee. Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said "due process is being violated on a daily constant basis" by leaks from the committee.

—John D. Ehrlichman claimed that President Nixon clamped a security lid on the activities of the White House plumbers in December 1971. Ehrlichman made the assertion in asking approval for a new subpoena demanding that the White House surrender notes Ehrlichman made.

—Presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair asked the Supreme Court to turn over evidence that led a grand jury to name Nixon an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate break-in. Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski opposed the request.

The tax inquiry centered on a $576,000

deduction claimed by Nixon for a gift of his vice presidential papers to the United States. The IRS, which had previously approved the deduction, later disallowed it.

Nixon accepted the IRS finding and said he would pay the amount assessed. However, the committee was told he has not paid $148,080 for 1969, which he is not required to pay because the statute of limitations for that year has expired. He is believed to have paid the rest.

The 5 per cent penalty for negligence also did not apply to 1969. John Doar, special counsel for the committee, said it was directed against Nixon and not his accountants.

Rep. David Dennis, R-Ind., said the imposition of a negligence penalty implies there is no criminal intent on the part of a taxpayer and thus to fraud.

But Albert Jenner, chief minority counsel for the committee, said at a news briefing that a finding of negligence does not rule out the possibility that fraud could be established later.

Firm inks $200 million pact with Soviets for fertilizer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Chemical Construction Corp. of New York has won the largest Soviet contract ever granted an American firm. Worth about $200 million, it covers the developing and equipping of the first four plants of a huge ammonia-fertilizer complex.

The contract was signed Thursday at the Soviet Foreign Trade Ministry by John Clarke, head of the Chemico division responsible for the project, and the head of the Soviet foreign trade department supervising the deal.

Also present was Armand Hammer, chairman of Occidental Petroleum, who negotiated the master Soviet-American agreement under which the complex is being built.

The U.S. Export-Import Bank last month granted a $180-million loan to the Soviet Union for construction of the complex. American commercial banks are to match this sum.

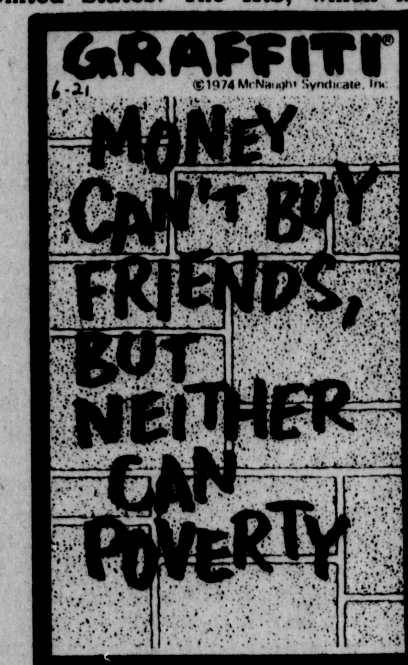

Under a proposed 20-year deal, the Soviet Union will buy superphosphates produced in Florida by an Occidental consortium and use them to make a type of fertilizer greatly needed by Soviet agriculture.

In return the Soviets will ship the United States urea and ammonia to be used in production of nitrogen fertilizers. The new plants will produce the urea and ammonia from natural gas from the Soviet Union's Orenberg field. Chairman William Casey of the Export-Import Bank said this would free enough American natural gas to heat a million homes a year.

In April 1973, when the initial protocol was signed, Hammer estimated it would generate $3 billion in trade. On Thursday he increased his estimate to more than $20 billion, explaining that the price of ammonia and phosphates had more than doubled.

Chemico is to supply the designs, engineering, material, construction advisers and equipment for four plants at Togliatti, on the Volga river about 400 miles east of Moscow. Each will produce 1,360 tons of ammonia a day.

Clarke said he expects construction to start by Jan. 1 with completion four years later. The Soviets plan to build four more plants in the complex, but the contracts for them have not been let yet.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Pearl Burke

Mrs. Viola Breakfield Burke, 61, a native of Fayette County, died at 8 a.m. Friday in Ross County Medical Center, Chillicothe.

A longtime resident here, Mrs. Burke had been residing in Bainbridge for the past year. She was a beautician in a variety of business ventures.

She is survived by her husband, Pearl; her mother, Mrs. David Breakfield, Good Hope; and four brothers, William Breakfield, Chillicothe, Pearl, of Good Hope, and Robert and David, of Tampa, Fla.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Emmett Quann

Mr. Quann, born in Washington C.H., the son of the late James and Minnie Quann, was a retired horseman and well-known in Fayette County.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth; a daughter, Mrs. Joan Thornton, both of Columbus; a sister, Mrs. Louise Stewart, New York City, N.Y.; a brother, Louis Quann, Metropolis, Ill.; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

New election seen possible in Britain

LONDON (AP) — The minority Labor government was defeated in Parliament today for the third time in three days, putting Prime Minister Harold Wilson under increased pressure to call Britain's second general elections in less than a year.

The vote was not on a motion of confidence, and Wilson is not bound to resign. Under the British system the prime minister is free to call elections at any time, but if he loses on a motion of confidence he is expected to call a ballot promptly.

But several members of Wilson's cabinet reportedly are urging him to call general elections this summer to seek a clear majority for Labor.

Today's 49-42 defeat was on a government proposal to amend a proposed lottery bill.

Thursday night the House of Commons by a 21-vote margin rejected a government proposal to nationalize or take partial control of a number of industries.

On Wednesday the Commons by nine votes rejected Labor's plan to refund $24 million in taxes to trade unions, and the government suffered four minor defeats in a committee considering its finance bill.

Robert Mellish, Labor's blunt floor manager, said the defeat of the nationalization proposal was "a clear indication to the country that the minority government cannot proceed ... very much longer. The electorate must now be ready and must understand why there will have to be a general election."

Wilson said only that his party would "consider all the implications" of its defeat.

Inflation hits double figure again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The annual rate of inflation in consumer prices returned to double digit levels in May following the April slowdown, the Labor Department reported today.

Consumer prices in May were 10.7 percent above a year earlier and, if the May inflation rate continued for the next 12 months, would be more than 13.2 percent higher than now at the end of the next 12 months, the department said.

The May increase in the Consumer Price Index was 1.1 percent. This compared with a sixteenth of one per cent increase in April.

The Nixon administration hopes to bring inflation down to a seven per cent annual rate by year's end.

There were sharply higher prices last month for a wide range of goods and services, including food, health services, clothing and used cars.

Among the bad news reported in the May index was a nineteenth of one per cent increase in food prices on a seasonally adjusted basis, reversing the four-tenths of one per cent decline in April.

Prices of fresh vegetables were up 19 per cent in May, much worse than usual for this time of year. Also increasing rapidly were prices for fresh fruits, cereal and bakery products, sugar and sweets, and processed fruits and vegetables, the department said.

The only favorable consumer trends in the food area were lower prices for meats, poultry and eggs.

The May increase of 1.1 per cent in the CPI was both on a seasonally adjusted and unadjusted basis. The index stood in May at 145.6 of the 1967 average of 100, meaning it cost $145.60 to buy what $100 purchased in the 1967 survey.

The big increase seemed certain to increase demands in Congress and among consumer groups for new initiatives to bring inflation under control.

Findlay driver killed

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Ralph C. Meyer, 41, of Findlay, was killed early today in a two-car, head-on collision on Findlay's northeast side, police reported.

Dr. Harry Crewson interim OU head

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A 25-year veteran educator at Ohio University has been named to serve one-year as the school's interim president.

Dr. Harry B. Crewson, 61, fills the post of Dr. Claude R. Sowle, who resigned effective Sept. 1. Meanwhile, university trustees will search for a permanent replacement.

Crewson, chairman of the Department of Economics for the past two years, said he will not be a candidate for the permanent position.

Currently an Athens County commissioner, Crewson has a wide background in community affairs. He resigned as president of the Athens City Council in January to become a commissioner and has indicated he will stop down from that post to devote all his time to the presidency.

"I will have the advantage of working with an experienced administrative team, a wellqualified faculty, dedicated trustees and a loyal non-academic staff," he said following the announcement Thursday.

Sowle announced he would step down after a series of springtime student demonstrations over a student workers union and other mass gatherings that brought out the Athens police. He has been president of the 14,000-student

12-mile limit being pushed at sea meet

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The United States has started its campaign at the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea to hold the new territorial sea limits of nations to 12 miles.

Chief U.S. delegate John Stevenson told a news conference Thursday the United States, which now claims the traditional three miles around its shores, is prepared to adopt the 12-mile limit that has been gaining favor provided this was generally adopted internationally.

Stevenson said the United States also would agree to an additional zone over which the adjacent nation would control "living and nonliving resources" but through which ships could pass freely. He said the U.S. would be "flexible" about this zone's width.

This was a concession to Peru, Ecuador and Chile, which have been enforcing a 200-mile limit off their coasts to the detriment of tuna fishermen from southern California.

In exchange for approving an extension of the territorial limits, the U.S. wants guarantees as sought by the major maritime nations that the straits connecting the world's seas will remain open to international navigation.

The Soviet Union today reiterated its support for the 12-mile limit in "the interests of coastal countries and the interests of the international society." But China in a broadcast Thursday said each country has the right to determine its own territorial limits and zone of jurisdiction.

Moscow Radio said this was against the interests of the majority of nations, including developing countries, and it accused the Chinese of trying to block limitations "just in case they want to claim islands now located in international waters."

Samaritan finds deed dangerous

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Being a Good Samaritan has nearly cost Tommy Howard his life.

Howard, 50, has been collecting money for Mattie Morrison, a crippled woman who lost everything when her home burned during the Symbionese Liberation Army shootout with police here May 17. Since Howard's efforts were detailed in news stories, he has been attacked twice.

Howard was robbed Tuesday as he sat next to the glass jar he keeps for donations from sightseers who visit the shootout site.

"There were two men," Howard said Thursday. "One reached for the jar and I said, 'Man, don't mess with the jar...that's for the lady who lived here. She's a cripple.' But he said 'No, I got to have it. I need it myself.'"

The man then pulled out a straight razor and, forcing Howard back, took the meager contents of the jar and fled with a companion, Howard said.

"I figured I got to find him," Howard said. "So I drove around and I found him...and I called the police and they got him. You can't let them kind of people get away."

Police arrested Thomas Ford, 29, who was charged with petty theft and displaying a weapon in a threatening manner, authorities said.

On Wednesday, two angry women approached Howard as he sat next to a poster asking donations, demanding to know why he wasn't collecting money for them. They too were burned out during the shootout.

"Well, if you ain't gonna help me, I'm gonna bust this up," Howard quoted one of the woman as saying.

"Then she pulled the sign down, and the other one she hit me with a board," Howard said.

Arrest Kentuckian for wild driving

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Anthony C. Scott, 18, of Erlanger, Ky. is free on bond today following his arrest Thursday morning for reckless driving, speeding and driving without a license.

Police said they clocked the Erlanger youth roaring down Torrance Parkway hill at 66 miles an hour in a 40 mile zone—standing on the seat of the cycle, campus for five years.

In announcing the decision, Board of Trustees President William R. Morris said: "Dr. Crewson offers the university exceptionally well-balanced ability. He has a wealth of knowledge of the university and its various constituencies, and a strong academic background and acceptance by the faculty."

Morris said Crewson was the board's unanimous choice from seven candidates.

The new president received his undergraduate degree from the College of Wooster and his masters and doctorate in economics from the Ohio State University.

For the past 15 years, he has served as a staff member of the Ohio School of Banking and the Institute for Credit Union Personnel.

He also is a member of the Ohio Municipal League and in 1971 he was appointed to the Citizens Task Force on Environmental protection.

Crewson served a two-year term as chairman of the Athens County Democratic party and is a member of the Athens Community Improvement Corporation.

He is married and the father of two children.

Calley spends first night in stockade

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. spent the night in a military stockade for the first time in three years, since shortly after he was convicted of murdering 22 people in the Vietnamese village of My Lai.

Calley, who had been free on bond since his house arrest was lifted in February, voluntarily surrendered to military authorities at nearby Ft. Benning on Thursday. He was assigned a large cell of his own.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled last week that Calley should be returned to military custody while he appeals his conviction in the 1968 My Lai massacre.

At a hearing Thursday, U.S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott, who had ordered Calley freed on bond, said no further action was necessary for the 30-year-old former lieutenant to be taken into custody again.

His local attorney, Kenneth Henson, said later: "I assume he will be eligible for parole July 1—a third of his sentence will have been served by then. The Army should yield to the overwhelming sympathies of the people of this country," he said.

Calley originally was sentenced to life imprisonment, but the sentence was later reduced to 10 years. He spent the first three nights after his conviction in the stockade before President Nixon ordered him released and placed under house arrest.

Hearing scheduled on atom plants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A hearing has been scheduled for June 25 by the Ohio Power Siting Commission on requests for waivers that could speed construction of two nuclear power plants.

The Ohio Edison Co. and Toledo Edison Co. requested the waivers, the commission said Thursday.

Ohio Edison wants a waiver for filing requirements for its proposed Erie Nuclear Plant near Huron, while Toledo Edison asked for a waiver of time and informational requirements for its Davis-Bessie site in Ottawa County.

By The Associated Press

Summer comes to Ohio officially at 2:38 p.m. today, with showers and thundershowers likely throughout the state to help mark the transition from Spring.

The National Weather Service also reported that this will be the last day of high temperatures and excessive humidities for a time, because cooler, drier air will move into northern counties tonight and complete a sweep of the state early Saturday.

The morning weather map Friday showed weak low pressure centers in eastern Lower Michigan and western Iowa. Both are moving eastward. The cooler air will enter Ohio after low pressure center passes through.

Numerous showers and thundershowers were reported over the state Thursday night and early Friday. West Central and southwest counties were under a tornado watch for several hours during the night, while northwest counties were under a severe thunderstorm watch. There were no reports of severe damage.

A chance of showers Sunday, fair Monday and Tuesday. Highs in the 70s. Lows in the 60s early Sunday and in the low to mid 50s by early Tuesday.

his tractor-trailer rig in Lake County, the northwest Indiana county which borders Chicago and Lake Michigan.

To the south, in Jasper County, authorities estimated 10 persons were injured.

The twisters were part of a massive storm front that dumped rain and hail over the northern half of Indiana. Most of the tornado damage occurred between 8:15 and 9:30 p.m. local time.

Tornadoes were confirmed at Lowell and Virgie and near Fowler, Hebron, Rensselaer, Lafayette and Benton.

The National Weather Service at Indianapolis said scores of tornado sightings were reported, but there were less than 10 confirmed touchdowns.

The storm system was spawned from a squall line extending across northern Indiana and Illinois. Most of Indiana was under tornado or thunderstorm warnings at some point during the evening Thursday.

Forty five persons were killed April 3 in tornadoes that struck northwestern and southeastern Indiana.

The town of Monticello, was hardest hit by the April tornadoes, in which seven persons were killed. No tornado damage was reported in Monticello Thursday night.

Mayors take up inflation

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Inflation and its squeeze on municipal budgets is the major problem facing urban chief executives gathering today for the 42nd annual meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Some mayors surveyed in advance of Saturday's opening session said federal revenue sharing and the "New Federalism" have only helped offset inflation and have failed to relieve American cities of their perennial financial woes.

The sharpest criticism came from Boston's Kevin White who said, "Inflation ate up revenue sharing before it could even be spent ... Its implementation has been a hoax and a hollow shell game for the cities of America."

White, a Democrat, added, "We have been forced to rob Peter to pay Paul and we end up nearly starving both."

Another Democrat, Mayor Tom Bradley of Los Angeles differed:

"General revenue sharing has been a fiscal lifesaver for us as we have gotten almost $40 million a year," Bradley said. "Without it we would be in dire financial straits."

About 350 mayors were expected to attend the sessions, which begin Saturday and run through Wednesday when the mayors adopt resolutions and choose a successor to Norfolk's Roy B. Martin Jr. as conference president.

SMU music chairman to take over UC post

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Eugene Bonelli, 40, chairman of music at Southern Methodist University, has been tentatively accepted to head the University of Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music.

UC President Warren Bennis said Thursday that Bonelli's appointment has been tentatively approved by the board of directors.

Dean Jack M. Watson retired from the post last August.

SECTION 2. The pay schedule for all employees shall be on a bi-weekly basis.

SECTION 3. New employees shall be employed at the minimum rate established for the range assigned, except that employees with exceptional qualifications, beyond the minimum normally required for the position, may be employed at the second or third step of the range, provided that a written explanation be on file in the office of the City Auditor of all such advance step employments.

SECTION 4. When an employee in the classified service is promoted to a higher classification, his salary or wage shall be increased to that of the lowest step in the pay range for the new classification which shall increase his salary or wage to the equivalent of one step in his previous classification.

SECTION 5. If employment conditions and the urgency of the work require such action the City Manager may authorize payment at any rate within the range for work of a casual or intermittent nature or on a project basis.

SECTION 6. Each City employee shall be advanced to succeeding steps in the range assigned for his classification according to the schedule established in this section. Each employee who has completed at least ninety days of service shall receive an automatic salary adjustment equivalent to the next higher step within the pay range for his class or grade. Upon the completion of each years service and with departmental recommendations, an employee may be advanced one step within his classification range or grade by the authority of the City Manager.

SECTION 7. No classification may be assigned a higher pay range without proper legislative action.

SECTION 8. This Ordinance from and after its effective date shall establish the City of Washington, Ohio integrated table of salary rates and ranges and all prior Ordinances pertaining to this subject shall be deemed repealed from and after the effective date of this Ordinance.

SECTION 9. This Ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure necessary for proper personnel administration for the City of Washington, Ohio and shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Premature declaration

More than half the members of the Senate have signed a resolution declaring that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's "integrity and veracity are above reproach." This is really rather odd, considering the circumstances; there is about it an air of panicky scrambling to reassure him of the Senate's trust and thus avert his resignation.

A gesture of support certainly was called for. Though we do not share Vice President Ford's view that for Kissinger to resign would be "catastrophic," we believe he has performed very ably as secretary of state and should be encouraged to remain in office. His departure would not be a catastrophe, but it would deprive the nation of a remarkable public servant and would interrupt the momentum of a largely successful foreign policy.

Supportive words from the Senate are thus appropriate, and will help to save Kissinger's bruises.

There is a very significant difference, however, between assurances of general trust and support, and an outright statement that the secretary's probity is "above reproach." This is a premature conclusion.

New evidence relating to Kissinger's part in the security wiretaps, including FBI memoranda which seems to conflict with what he told the Foreign Relations Committee last September, has come to light. The secretary cannot reasonably be given a clean bill of health until this new evidence and a variety of allegations have been weighed by the committee.

It should be remembered that Kissinger did not threaten immediate resignation. What he said in Salzburg was that "the character and credibility of the secretary of State is at issue," and that "if it is not cleared up, I will resign." He said further that he had asked the Foreign Relations Committee to review the matter, and would be willing to appear before it.

The committee has agreed to such a review, and to this end has asked the special prosecutor's office and the State Department to supply all documents pertaining to Kissinger's role in the wiretapping. Whether or not Kissinger answered fully and truthfully in his earlier testimony is the point at issue. If this point is resolved in his favor, as we hope, that will be time enough for the Senate as a whole to start that his "integrity and veracity are above reproach."

The spoor of the fox

With President Nixon and Secretary of State Kissinger embarking for Moscow in the near future, we are fortunate that John Dornberg—former Newsweek correspondent in Moscow and widely respected authority on the Soviet leadership—has just brought out a penetrating political biography of Leonid Brezhnev. For far too long, Brezhnev has been a faceless man, a nobody who suddenly arrived on the scene with the fall of Khrushchev in 1964. Dornberg's "Brezhnev: The Masks of Power" (Basic Books) goes a long way towards filling that gap.

As he himself is the first to admit, tracking down the history of a Communist party figure is a form of detective work. With the exception of an ebullient extrovert like the late Nikita Khrushchev, it is often impossible to get details on private lives. When did Brezhnev get married? Did he or didn't he serve in the armed forces in the 1930's? These and other simple questions that normally could be settled by reference to standard sources remain unanswered. I was, for example, quite startled to see Brezhnev right behind Khrushchev in a photo of the famous "kitchen debate" with the Soviet party, chief had with Vice President Nixon in July, 1959.

the Politburo, summoned the Central Committee and triumphed.

Dornberg suggests that one of Brezhnev's strongest suits is his close relationship with the military: both Marshal Andrei Grechko and Admiral Sergei Gorshkov are old companions, and Brezhnev's apparently outstanding war record (he was not a political commissar who sat in rear headquarters) endeared him to a wide range of high military officials. Naturally enough he has kept these relationships warm by appropriate budgetary payoffs to the elite on Frunze St.—Moscow's equivalent to the Pentagon.

Probably the most significant conclusion that emerges from Dornberg's book, one which runs against the conventional wisdom that the present Soviet elite is composed of second-rate clods, is that Brezhnev is an extremely intelligent man with a superb sense of timing. Moreover, again contrary to various commentators who have Brezhnev's position is (by Soviet standards) quite secure; and, second, that the degree to which he is personally relaxed can be estimated from the fact that his apartment is on a floor between those of the head of the uniformed police and the head of the secret police (KGB). He is no paranoid Stalin sequestered in a private fortress.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)
Don't put too much trust in a supposedly "confidential" report. Rumors and conjectures are likely to be rife at this time.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)
Mixed influences. Expect the unexpected. Others involved in your activities may have misunderstood certain arrangements.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
A day for listening! In even a casual conversation you may pick up a most useful idea where money matters are concerned.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
An excellent day for making travel plans, whether for pleasure or business. Family concerns also governed by friendly aspects.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
One of those days when a snap decision could turn out surprisingly well — especially if an unusual purchase is involved.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Someone in authority will now take

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Watch the budget now. Reject any ideas for travel or entertainment which you can't really afford. Tendency is to be reckless.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Your judgment a bit off now. Take nothing for granted, even if all seems well. And, above all, make no hasty decisions.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Don't plan any hectic activities. Day will be more satisfactory if you can get off by yourself and do some constructive thinking.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Don't fret if it becomes necessary to sacrifice some leisure time to business matters. Results will more than make up for your disappointment.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Look for a highly stimulating weekend. Both travel and social activities should prove enlivening. Romance also favored.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
A clash of temperaments could cause needless friction. Don't jeopardize an old friendship by becoming overly emotional.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely practical, conscientious and self-controlled individual. Generally speaking, you are one of our more serious-minded and solid citizens but as a carryover from the now descending Gemini, the sobriety of your nature is lightened by flashes of a brilliant but dry wit and a happy disposition. In all your endeavors, you use striking methods and unique but completely feasible procedures. Like the Gemini, you have a gift for words and a talent for music which, properly developed, could lead to great success as a writer, composer, instrumentalist or journalist. The theater is also an excellent medium for your talents and, with your Cancer-endowed compassion for your fellowman, you would make an excellent physician, nurse or sociologist. Traits to curb: obstinacy and jealousy.

Allocated cash for state setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Public Welfare has allocated $1.5 million to fund the state's Neighborhood Youth Worker program for another year, the Ohio Youth Commission reported Thursday.

Commission Director Joseph L. White said the program, which serves seven Ohio cities, was to have ended June 30.

Ohio solons seeking larger hearing room

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Abortion, gun control, women's rights and other emotionally charged issues that bring citizens to the Statehouse in hordes may be easier to handle in the future.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellair, has asked a review committee on legislative space needs to recommend a large public hearing room to accommodate 400-500 persons.

At present the biggest room available to House committees can take about 150-200 shoulder-to-shoulder. The overflow usually stands in the capitol rotunda to listen on loudspeakers.

The House is acquiring access to the entire southern half of the Statehouse with the departure of state office to the new 41-story State Office Tower across the street.

Speaker Pro Tem Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-99 New Boston, is chairman of the 14-member committee of legislators who will determine how to use the new space.

It Lt. Gov. John W. Brown unhappy being second?

Brown's counterpart in Vermont, Republican John Burgess said the Ohio lieutenant governor has been upset ever since he was asked by Buckeye GOP leaders to drop out of the U.S. Senate race in favor of Mayor Ralph J. Perk of Cleveland.

Brown, one of the deans among lieutenant governors in the country, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate last year.

His statement came within minutes after William B. Saxbe, the Republican squire of Mechanicsburg, said he would not seek re-election. Saxbe now is attorney general.

Ohio GOP leaders did some persuading and got Brown to drop out of the race and seek re-election as lieutenant governor. Burgess said Brown's chances for political advancement have virtually been wiped out by the maneuvering.

Tax revolt fears prove unfounded

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Donald Alexander says a predicted Watergate-related tax revolt against the IRS this year did not materialize.

He told the national convention of the Jaycees here that 6.2 per cent more income tax returns were filed this year than last.

Bank teller makes a $1000 mistake

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because of a recent and very serious mistake I made in my work.

I am a teller in a commercial bank. As you know, we handle a lot of money and carry a tremendous responsibility to ourselves, our employers and the public. I have never been able to understand why John Q. Public does not count his money before leaving the window. And why, if he knows a mistake has been made in his favor, doesn't he speak up?

I balanced out short yesterday. VERY short. ($1,000.) As you can assume, the money went out the window to a customer. Can you answer my questions? No one seems able to.

SHORT IN LUBBOCK

DEAR SHORT: John Q. Public is not one man—he is many men. Some Johns always count their money; some never do. Some will speak up on discovering an error has been made in their favor; some will not.

Since it's the teller's responsibility to balance out accurately, he should then insist that the recipient count it again in his presence. It takes a little more time, but it beats being $1,000 short, no?

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is nearly 80, told my brother that his will leaves me a silver dollar, and everything else is divided between my brother and my father's sisters. I want to know if there is any way I can break that will because of the following facts, which are absolutely true:

I am physically handicapped and have been since birth, but I have always been able to get around enough to do all the cooking and housekeeping. When my mother died, I was only 14. My father forced me to have sex with him. He never wanted me to have any boyfriends, but when I was 50 years old I got a boyfriend who had to sneak me out of the house to marry me, but I wouldn't come back.

I think after keeping house for my father for 36 years I am entitled to something, don't you? Can his will be broken? And if so, how?

WONDERING IN N.Y.

DEAR WONDERING: Take these facts to a lawyer and let him advise you. You have nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: My youngest sister is being married next month, which will make me the only one in our family who isn't married.

I've been going with the same fellow for three years now, but we don't have any plans for getting married. I just dread the remarks I know I am going to hear after my sister gets married: "Well, it's your turn now," and "When will you be taking the big step?"

Relatives and friends have already asked me what I'm waiting for. It embarrasses and hurts me, and I never know what to say. Can you help?

NO PLANS

DEAR NO: Yes. Say, "I have no plans. But if and when I have, I'll let you know."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M." A soft answer still turneth away wrath . . . and grievous words stir up anger. (This is nothing new. It's Old Testament.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 21, the 172nd day of 1974. There are 193 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1788, the U.S. Constitution went into effect as New Hampshire became the ninth state to ratify it.

On this date — In 1834, the American inventor, Cyrus McCormick, was granted a patent on his reaping machine.

In 1898, the first U.S. troops landed in Cuba in the Spanish-American War.

In 1919, in World War I, part of a German fleet interned at Scapa Flow in Scotland was scuttled by the German crewmen.

In 1942, in World War II, 30,000 British soldiers were taken prisoner as the stronghold of Tobruk in Libya fell to the Germans.

In 1945, Japanese forces on the island of Okinawa surrendered to the Americans.

In 1963, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Milan, Italy was elected Pope. He took the name, Paul VI.

Ten years ago: Communist China warned under-developed nations that they would become subject to Soviet domination if they accepted aid from the Soviets.

Five years ago: At least 62 persons were killed when an express train derailed near Benares, India.

One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court handed down a new set of guidelines on obscenity, giving local authorities more control over books, magazines, plays and motion pictures.

State cyclists to receive pay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the first time, Ohio will pay state employees who use their motorcycles for state business. They'll get six cents a mile.

John B. Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management, also announced Thursday that the state will boost the amount it pays employees who use their cars on state business by 20 per cent.

Olsen said the increase from 10 cents to 12 cents a mile will cost Ohio $500,000 to $600,000 a year.

the illustrated BIBLE

Judith Led to Holofernes

And they (the Assyrian watchmen) said to her . . . when thou shalt stand before him (Holofernes), he will treat thee well. —Judith 10: 15

Among the many courageous women who played a part in Biblical lore was Judith of Bethulia. The daughter of Merari and widow of Manasses, she was wealthy and exceedingly beautiful, but she was most revered for her piety. Thus when she needed Him most, the Lord was at her side—as He proved when the Israelites were under attack by the Assyrians. The Bethulians had been able to hold their town since it was located at a narrow pass. Instead of trying to force it, Holofernes, the Assyrian leader, blockaded the city and cut off its water supply. In the distress which ensued, Judith determined to save her people so, with her maid, set off to the camp of Holofernes to plead their cause. His aides stopped her but, awed by her beauty, finally led her to him.

'Great Jerusalem Temple' construction about to begin

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — An aura of mystery surrounds the idea of restoring the Jewish Temple in Jerusalem. For many Christians and Jews, it's a longed-for dream, a Messianic sign. It is not yet. But something like it is happening.

Construction is due to begin in the next few days on the first large, central Jewish house of worship in the Holy City since the destruction of the temple 1,904 years ago.

"No one is suggesting that this means the restoration of the temple," says Rabbi Dr. Maurice A. Jaffee, president of the Union of Israel Synagogues which is sponsoring the project. "But there are parallels."

For one thing, the prospective new "Jerusalem Great Synagogue" is planned as a central, representative sanctuary to which Jewish pilgrims from all over the world may come to pray — just as they did to the temple of old.

In another respect, every Jew everywhere is being encouraged to contribute something to building of the new edifice, even if only a half shekel — the basic tribute of each practicing Jew to the ancient temple.

Furthermore, the new house of worship is being built of a special radiant stone like that of the temple of Bible times, and is to be situated next to headquarters of Israel's rabbinic authority, as was the historic temple.

"There are many analogies, but we're wary of drawing comparisons," Dr. Jaffee said in an interview. "One gets in hot water even to hint at such a thing. Conditions are out of the question for re-establishing the temple."

Doing so, to many Christians who interpret the Bible literally, would be a prophetic indication of the imminent return of Christ. Many Jews also link restoration of the Temple to a coming Messiah. It would also have political and social overtones.

"Non-Jews seem almost more concerned about it than many Jews,"

Dr. Jaffee said. "They see it as a natural step now that Israel has been restored to Jews after 2,000 years of wandering."

The first temple, built in Solomon's time about 1,000 B.C., was destroyed by invading Babylonians in 586 B.C., but rebuilt afterwards. The second temple was burned by Roman troops in crushing a Jewish revolt in 70 A.D., which marked the end of the Jewish state until its modern restoration.

Like the temple, the Great Synagogue will be built of Jerusalem's "golden stone" whose color changes in the course of a day from gray to white to gold as struck by the changing angles of the sun.

Presbyterians meet in general assembly

Among ministers and laypersons of the area attending the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., opening this week in Louisville, Ky., is the Rev. J. Curtis Hodgens, minister of Midway Presbyterian Church, Sedalia.

The General Assembly meets annually, and is the supreme judicatory of the United Presbyterian Church which has more than three million communicant members.

The Assembly is a representative body, and is comprised of an equal number of elders and ministers, called commissioners, representing presbyteries in all parts of the United States.

While Mr. Hodgens is in attendance at the General Assembly, worship at Midway Church Sunday morning will be led by the Boulevard Fellowship Group, of Boulevard Presbyterian Church, Columbus. The service will be contemporary in nature, and will include drums, organ, guitar, songs, and even balloons.

It is expected that the current General Assembly, sitting for eight days, will provide forum for debate on a number of public issues, including women's rights, total amnesty for draft evaders, and abortion.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS VICKERS

Vows exchanged in June

Fayette Bible Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Patti Ann McCollister and Thomas William Vickers.

Pastor Denny Howard performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCollister, Rt. 1, Clarksburg, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vickers of Marmet, W. Va.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Joyce Hidy, organist, and Ross Patton, brother-in-law of the bride, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her formal length polyester gown was styled with a Victorian neckline, embroidered empire bodice with Venice lace and seed pearls and Victorian sleeves. The gathered skirt flowed into a flounce at the hemline. Her head-piece featured an open-crown and was camelot-style of nylon lace and seed pearls with an attached chapel train of imported illusion. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies and baby's breath centered with a corsage of yellow and white roses.

Mrs. Ross Patton, sister of the bride, and the honor attendant, wore a green gingham formal length gown with white eyelet trim. She carried a white basket of yellow daisies and baby's breath. The bridesmaids were the Misses Cheryl Pullins of Nitro, W. Va., Mary Engleberth of Paris, Ill., and Nancy Estep of Frankfort. Their formal length yellow gingham gowns were styled like that of the honor attendant. Each carried a white basket with white daisies and baby's breath.

Little Tammy Fry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fry of Mount Sterling, was the flower girl. Matthew McClish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McClish of Washington C.H., was the ring bearer.

Steve Vickers of Marmet, brother of the groom, served as best man and wedding guests were seated by Tom Worley and Dan Fisher, both of West Virginia and Galen Shoff of Johnstown, Pa., David McCollister, brother of the bride, was the acolyte.

Miss Jan Haynes of Cincinnati, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book, and another cousin, Miss Terri Hoover of Columbus, assisted with the gifts.

A reception was given by the bride's parents in the church social room. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Robert Haynes, Mrs. Cathy Caplinger, Mrs. Lloyd Bowdle and Mrs. Robert Browning.

The new Mrs. Vickers graduated from Adena High School in 1971 and Appalachian Bible Institute in 1974. Her husband is a 1970 graduate of East Bank High School, Charleston, W. Va., and a 1974 graduate of the Appalachian Bible Institute. He is employed at Orient State Hospital.

Following a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Vickers are residing in Bloomingburg. In the near future, the couple will attend candidate school with Worldwide European Fellowship, looking toward the mission field of Ireland.

DKG tours Laurel Oaks

Thirty-three members of Delta Kappa Gamma toured the Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus near Wilmington for the program of the final meeting for this year.

Preceding the tour, members met for a luncheon at the Wilmington Elks Club. Miss Helen Hutson, outgoing president, was presented the past president's pin in recognition of her year as the society's president. The pin was presented by Mrs. Charlene Mace, a past president.

The tour of the joint vocational school was conducted by Exley Wical, director of the high school division of LOCDC. Mr. Wical described many of the two-year programs in business, cosmetology, foods preparation, carpentry, masonry, motel management, and various shop skills as the members walked through the corresponding departments.

Mrs. Zoe Garinger of Bloomingburg, has returned home after attending the Methodist Conference at Lakeside. While in the area she visited her daughter, Mrs. Willis Mason and family in Toledo.

Miss Clark announces wedding plans

Miss Deborah Ann Clark, bride-elect of Jay Mathew Cottrill, has announced her final plans for their marriage, which will take place at 2 p.m. June 29 in the Sesquicentennial Chapel, on the Miami University campus at Oxford. The Rev. Alan deCourcy will officiate.

Miss Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Clark, 609 Belle-Aire Place, and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Cottrill, Rt. 1, New Holland, are the parents of the prospective bridegroom.

Miss Clark has asked Miss Ellen Dandino of Girard to be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Ruth Nicklet of Hamilton, Miss Jan Levy of Dayton, both college roommates of the bride-elect, and Mr. Cottrill's sister, Mrs. Sharon Edmonson of New Holland.

Larry Ankrone of Arlington, Va., will serve as best man, and Rex Taylor of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Ken Newton of Chillicothe, and David Steinhauser, a cousin from New Holland, will seat the wedding guests.

Hostesses for the reception will be Mrs. A. W. Poock, Mrs. Steven Schelenz, and Miss Robyn Clark, cousins of the bride-elect, and Brenda Steinhauser, cousin of the prospective groom.

Mrs. Diffendal honored at dinner-party

Mrs. Doris Diffendal was honored by the staff of The Fayette County Health Department with a dinner party at the Terrace Lounge. Mrs. Diffendal is retiring June 30th, after eighteen and one-half years as Clerk-Registrar of the Fayette County Health Department.

She was wearing an orchid corsage from her long time friend and former co-worker, Mrs. Bernard Witherspoon.

As a token of appreciation for the years of service the Staff member presented her with a hand engraved gold locket with the years of service engraved on the back. The members of the Board of Health presented her with a lovely Daulton figurine. She was also presented the floral arrangement of spring flowers that was used as the centerpiece.

Those attending were: William E. Covert, DVM, Health Commissioner, Mr. Charles Funk, Mrs. John Richards, Mrs. Michael Vrettos, Mrs. Richard Fenton, Mrs. Warren Pollock, Mrs. Michael Inskeep, Mrs. Ralph Douglass, Mrs. Gene Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Derrell Brown, Mrs. Charlotte Montoya, Mrs. Richard Maddux and Mrs. Witherspoon.

Rev. and Mrs. Wiley R. Baker, 223 W. Circle Ave., attended church services and the newly inaugurated "G.H. Armstrong Day" at the Adelphi United Methodist Church in Ross County on Sunday. Rev. Baker had a part in the afternoon program, which was presented in honor of the late G.H. (Hurst) Armstrong, a lifelong resident of that area who had attended the Adelphi Methodist Church 81 years, having missed not more than 20 services during that period of time. He was superintendent of the church Sunday School for 35 years. Rev. Baker was pastor of the Laurelville Trinity and Adelphi U.M. churches before his retirement from United Methodist Conference, June 1972.

Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Warren and children, Gregory and Kelley of Evansville, Ind., were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Kelley on Thursday, and toured the Fayette County Museum while here. Mr. Warren is president of the Unigraphic Inc. Publishing Co., which printed Mr. Kelley's book, "Down Through the Golden Years," and brought 250 additional copies of the second printing of the book.

Dollar growing more respectable

NEW YORK (AP) — That $2-billion surplus in the nation's balance of payments during the first three months of the year will likely contribute to an even further increase in the dollar's respectability.

In the eyes of foreigners, the dollar has been growing increasingly attractive in recent weeks, despite its frayed edges. Some of the petroleum exporting nations are becoming its big supporters.

Illustrating this, foreign bank deposits have been rising in recent weeks. Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. estimates that more than $1 billion poured into U.S. banks from foreign institutions in the 30 days to mid-June.

This increase, it said, brought the total second-quarter influx to about $3.5 billion. Among the reasons given for the renewed interest in the dollar was the high rate of interest offered.

The bank, which closely follows developments in foreign exchange, noted that the dollar now was firm against all other major currencies, and much stronger in relation to some.

The biggest gain noted for the period from May 13 to June 18 was against the German mark, about 4.75 per cent, and the Italian lira. Against the Japanese yen, the dollar gained 1.75 per cent.

In general, the improvement seems to indicate relatively greater confidence in the U.S. economy, despite its problems, than in the economies of other industrial nations.

While serious imbalances exist domestically, they tend to pale when compared with the economic disruptions abroad. Inflation, for example, is at a lower rate in the United States than in many foreign nations.

Moreover, the wholesale prices of manufactured goods have been rising at a much greater rate in most industrial nations.

One of the reasons is the extremely high cost of energy in many nations that lack a domestic petroleum supply. Balance of payments deficits exist in Japan, France, Italy and the United Kingdom, at least partially because of higher oil prices.

While the United States also has a deficit in its oil trade account, its overall payments balance is in surplus because of other factors, including exports.

As a result, those with money to invest tend to overlook the problems in the U.S. economy — problems that in other years might have frightened them away.

Bus drivers reject contract

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The latest contract offer to striking bus drivers of the Lake Shore System has been rejected.

Drivers, who have been off the job 25 days, voted Thursday to turn down the contract proposal which was worked out by bargainners for union drivers and mechanics, Lake Shore officials and a federal mediator.

No new contract talks were scheduled.

The Lake Shore System links Columbus with Pittsburgh, Pa., and serves several other Ohio cities.

The study commission also heard from the chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents and the president of the Ohio State University as part of its indepth look at Ohio's Civil Service laws.

Chancellor James A. Norton testified that universities should retain general responsibility on personnel.

"A small coterie of highly qualified personnel consultants should be recruited and established to advise and assist the personnel directors on each campus," he said.

Norton told the panel it should recommend an acceptance of greater administrative flexibility within the Civil Service system.

OSU president Dr. Harold Enarson said it is obvious there is much dissatisfaction with the present system of employee classification and compensation.

"Because of the rigidities of the system as it has developed, we are forced to improvise in ways that make us look uncooperative — possibly evasive," Enarson said.

"Neither the incredibly complex personnel requirements of our institutions or the compensation of its employees can be adequately dealt with by a common 'system' with all other agencies of state government," he said.

Enarson called for a classification and compensation system that acknowledges the special needs of a university and provides for a flexibility to accommodate the variety and diversity among the institutions themselves.

The 14-member commission is to prepare a report at the conclusion of its hearings for submission to Gov. John J. Gilligan and the Ohio General Assembly.

Prime-time television rule freeze causes problems

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks say a federal appeals court ruling freezing the prime-time access rule is forcing a hurried reshuffling of the fall program lineup.

The networks say some of the programs may be shifted to other nights, bumping shows already scheduled for those nights. Still other programs may not debut until January as a result of Tuesday's ruling by a three-judge panel in the U.S. Court of Appeals here.

The controversy centers on the 1971 access rule limiting a network to no more than three hours of programming in the peak evening viewing hours between 7 and 11 p.m.

Late last year the Federal Communications Commission said it would modify the rule, allowing the networks to use all four prime-time hours on Saturday and Sunday as well as an additional half-hour during the week to televise a documentary, public affairs program or children's special. In February the FCC said it planned to implement the access rule changes this September.

The National Association of Independent Television Producers and Distributors filed suit to block the effective date. The appeals court agreed that revising the prime time rules this year would cause serious harm to independent producers, who sell syndicated shows to stations anxious to fill the broadcast time barred to the networks. The court said no change can be made at least until September, 1975. The ruling means that the networks will have to eliminate one hour of fall programming scheduled for the 7 to 8 p.m. Sunday night slot as well as the week night half-hour.

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Eighteen-year-olds couldn't be go-go dancers in Mansfield under an ordinance proposed by the city council.

But Mayor Richard Porter has refused to sign the proposed ordinance, declaring he would not "be a party to putting a lid on those years after the voters of Ohio have recognized 18 as the age of legal accessibility."

Porter said the proposal is aimed at keeping those under 21 out of establishments that sell liquor.

The ordinance becomes law without the mayor's signature in 10 days.

Population growth for the United States from 1970 to mid-1972 was 2.46 per cent. Population growth for the Appalachian region was 2.44 per cent.

Civil service changes urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Titles such as secretary and clerk-typist have demeaning connotations and should be eliminated from Civil Service classifications, the University of Toledo Women's Organization says.

The group told the Ohio Civil Service Study Commission Thursday that terms which "imply work of a limited nature" should be abolished.

"We propose the substitution of the classification titles to 'administrative aide', that is 'aide to the administrator,'" the organization said in a statement presented at a commission hearing.

The group noted that secretaries are not always women. And it said the titles should be more descriptive of the "complex and involved work we perform."

That includes working in research projects, preparing staff papers, drafting letters, supervising personnel and generally participating at high administrative levels," it said.

Guard needs more men

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Adj. Gen. Dana L. Stewart said Thursday the Ohio Army National Guard will be 2,000 short of authorized strength in two years unless present recruiting and reenlistment rates improve.

"It could mean the elimination of some guard units so others could be maintained at effective strength," he said.

Stewart noted that six-year enlistments of many who joined the guard between 1968 and 1970, during the height of the Vietnam conflict, will be expiring through 1976.

The guard currently is 700 short of authorized strength.

ORDINANCE NO. 26-74
An emergency ordinance establishing overtime policies: authorizing and prescribing for the payment of overtime.

WHEREAS, as a result of the 1974 amendments of the Fair Labor Standards Act, minimum wages and overtime wages must be paid to most non-supervisory state and local government employees; and

WHEREAS, the Council of the City of Washington desires full and immediate compliance with said act;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WASHINGTON, FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO:

SECTION 1. That employees working for the City of Washington, Ohio or any of the several departments, commissions, boards of the City of Washington shall receive overtime wages in accordance with the following schedule:

A. Effective May 1, 1974 all city employees not specifically excluded in Section 2 of hereof shall be paid overtime after forty (40) hours of work in a week, based upon a seven (7) day calendar week, at a rate equal to one and one-half (1 1/2) times said employees regular rate. Regular rates are to be computed by dividing the weekly straight earnings by the number of hours worked.

B. Effective January 1, 1975 law enforcement and fire protection employees shall be paid overtime at a rate equal to one and one-half (1 1/2) times said employees regular rate of pay for working excess hours based on the following formula: For employees with a work period of twenty-eight (28) consecutive days, overtime for all hours of duty in excess of two hundred forty (240) hours, or, if they have worked a period of from seven (7) to twenty-eight (28) consecutive days, overtime for the excess number of hours based on a proportion of the two hundred forty (240) hour figure.

SECTION 2. Employees of the City of Washington not entitled to minimum wage and overtime compensation are:

(1) Elected officials and their personal staff;
(2) Appointees on the policy making level; or
(3) Other administrative or supervisory personnel who act as immediate advisors to an office holder with respect to the constitution or legal powers of the office.

SECTION 3. Upon presentation of authorized payrolls and vouchers properly executed by department head and the City Manager, the City Auditor is hereby directed and authorized to compensate employees for overtime work in accordance with a schedule established in Section 1 hereof.

SECTION 4. This ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, welfare and safety and for the further reason of assuring the proper administration of personnel matters for the City of Washington, Ohio; wherefore, this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Woman returns, finds furniture items gone

Items of furniture were mistakenly carted from a Washington C.H. woman's home because it was thought she had moved, and the theft of a statue were the offenses reported by city police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating the disappearance of a money bag containing $50 from Bolen's Grocery store in Bloomingburg.

Delores Myers, 631 E. Market St., returned to her home Thursday, after being gone since Monday, to find her white Tappan gas range, a 19-inch television set and a 20-inch television set missing, along with a blonde bedroom suite consisting of a bed-frame, vanity and dresser and a metal bookcase, two dozen towels, several assorted toys and three sheets.

She reported the theft to police, who during their investigation discovered the house she had been renting had been rented to some other people who were told by the owner the items left behind must have been discarded.

FAA official to speak at airport here

An area representative from the Federal Aviation Administration will visit the Fayette County Airport at 4 p.m. Saturday to discuss with the staff and local pilots some of the many aspects of flying safely in small private planes.

Alexander P. Butterfield, director of the FAA in Washington D.C., has selected the local airport as one of the facilities nationwide which will be visited during the next month under "Operation Ground Assist."

The program is designed to combat the incidence of accidents involving private planes. According to the FAA, accidents involving light private planes are proportionately much higher than in other areas of air travel, especially on the weekends.

Leo Wonderly will be the speaker here. He is the FAA representative for this region.

Area pilots are urged to attend.

Police did not say where the possessions were taken or whether or not the owner would be able to get them back.

A statue was taken from the porch of the Mrs. Alfred Cornell residence 1430 Lindberg Drive, sometime between 9 a.m. Wednesday and 4:43 p.m. Thursday.

Police estimated the value of the statue at $25.

A First National Bank money bag containing $16 in checks and $50 in cash was removed from under the counter at Bolen's Grocery store in Bloomingburg, between noon and 1 p.m. Thursday.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft.

Jurors seated for trial in Ross County

CHILLICOTHE — A jury was seated and opening statements were heard Thursday in the Ross County Common Pleas Court trial of three Lucasville prison inmates charged with kidnapping, escape from custody and trespassing.

The jury was finally seated at 2 p.m. after 20 additional prospective jurors were summoned Thursday morning.

The trio on trial, Donald Nickerson, 45, Vandalia, Robert Laws, 27, Columbus, David Pilkington, 29, Olmstead, were apprehended by Washington C.H. Police and Fayette County sheriff's deputies after they overpowered an elderly Franklin County sheriff's deputy transporting them from the prison to Columbus.

A fourth convict, Doyle Manning, was killed in an exchange of gunfire with police.

Two local law enforcement officers, Sheriff's Sgt. William Crooks and Patrolman Michael Stritenberger are to testify in the case.

Boosters set meet

A special meeting has been scheduled by the Washington Senior High School band boosters club at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the high school choir room.

All members are urged to attend.

Court News

DIVORCE ACTIONS FILED

Betty M. Brill, Greenfield-Sabina Rd., has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for divorce from Harry L. Brill on grounds of neglect and cruelty. The parties were married here Feb. 19, 1972 and have one child, according to the petition. The plaintiff is seeking alimony, custody and support.

Roberta Jo Carr, 1308 Lindberg Ave., has filed for divorce from Ralph D. Carr Jr., 1227 Rawlings St., on grounds of neglect and cruelty. The parties were married Oct. 28, 1971 at Georgetown, Ky., and have two children, according to the petition. The plaintiff is seeking custody and support.

Milford Stiffler, Washington Inn, has filed for divorce from Donna M. Stiffler, 104 E. Market St. The plaintiff claims that the defendant has been guilty of neglect and states that the parties have lived separately without interruption for a period of two years, therefore making him entitled to a divorce. The parties have one child who does not reside with the parents, according to the petition.

CIVIL CASE JUDGMENT

Judge Evelyn W. Coffman, Court of Common Pleas, has overruled the Washington C.H. Zoning Board of Appeals in her judgment on a suit filed by Chester and Betty Estep, 902 Pearl St. The zoning board had denied the parties' application for a zoning variance to sell Christmas trees at their residence, and the board of appeals had upheld the decision. However, the judge overturned the board's decision stating that it was proper for the couple to again sell the Christmas trees as they have done for many years in the past.

Traffic Court

A Washington C.H. man pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Thursday to a charge of driving while intoxicated filed by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Acting Judge Omar Schwartz presided over the courtroom in the absence of Judge Reed M. Winegardner, who is vacationing with his wife in Florida.

Robert L. Jordan, 36, of 1200 Nelson Place, was fined $250, sentenced to three days in jail, and received a 30-day suspension of his operator's license after he pleaded guilty to the DWI charge.

Four other cases were scheduled for hearing, all of which were filed by city police.

Fined:
William R. Reed Sr., 28, Bloomingburg, $20, reckless operation.
John D. Zugg, 19, Midland, $15, opening a car door into traffic.

Bond forfeitures:
James W. Fichner, 30, of 312 N. North St., $60, driving a motorcycle without a motorcycle license.

Richard A. Jobst, 24, of 625 Vine St., $60, reckless operation.

Jamestown man gets suspended jail term

A Jamestown man was fined $50 and was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence after he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a charge of criminal mischief.

Kenny R. Williams, 20, was sentenced by acting Judge Omar Schwartz, who presided in the absence of Judge Reed M. Winegardner.

The charge, essentially the same as malicious destruction of property under the older version of the Ohio Revised Code, was filed on a private warrant.

'Tecumseh!' sets premier tonight

CHILLICOTHE—The outdoor historical drama "Tecumseh!" will debut for its second season in a special premier performance tonight at the Sugarloaf Mountain amphitheater.

The premier program will begin at 8 p.m. and the first performance will start at 8:45 p.m.

W. L. Mundell, Scioto Society president, said the original script, presented for the first time last year, has undergone several major re-writes and major revisions made in the drama.

He said the script has been tightened to eliminate some of the dialogue and increase the action. No indoor scenes will be utilized this year; and portions of the stage are being rebuilt to increase visibility for the audience.

Mel Cobb is returning in the title role.

The Union Township Zoning Board of Appeals authorized two variances for mobile homes and issued 12 building permits at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

Boy saved; was shot in head

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A Cleveland doctor says re-used neurosurgical techniques saved the life of a 16-year-old boy who had been shot in the head.

The youth, Floyd Andres, is reported recovering at Highland View Hospital. Dr. Robert J. White, director of neurosurgery at Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital, said the bullet ripped through Andres' brain.

Part of the brain was cut away, he said, and a second operation became necessary because of an infection from the bullet in the brain chambers.

The surgeon said in the second operation a technique was used similar to that used in draining fluids from the skulls of children with hydrocephalus.

If it hadn't been for the "drains and shunts" that were used, "this boy would not be here," White said.

Andres, a former track star at Lincoln High West, was wounded March 29 in an argument. White said the youth suffered permanent damage but "he can be educated and can be self-supporting."

Alfred Lininger, board secretary and township zoning inspector, said a variance was granted to Larry Coil to place a mobile home for a night watchman at the Tempo Trucking Co. lot. Another variance was granted to Donald Palmer to place a mobile home at the rear of 4108 Washington-Waterloo Road on land purchased from Elmer Palmer.

Building permits issued were: Thomas Van Bibber, garage in Von Steuben Subdivision, $2,000; Ohio Shelterall Co., two signs on U.S. 22-E; Robert Gifford, garage at 1425 Forest St., $1,000; Duane C. French, carport in Hawthorne Subdivision, $1,200; Dr. K.K. Wong, new residence in Blue Grass Estate Subdivision, $165,000; Floryd McClain, cottage off Palmer Road, $4,000;

Good Hope Lions officers seated

GOOD HOPE—The Good Hope Lions installed officers for the coming year when the club met Thursday night at Wayne Township Hall.

The officers were installed by District Lion Governor Doug Kelley, of Fairborn. The new officers are Howard Barney, president; John Noble, first vice president; Jim Hughes, second vice president; Wayne Baird, third vice president; Nelson Whaley, secretary-treasurer; Dean Yahn, lion tamer; Ora Fitzpatrick, tail twister; and Danny Fitzpatrick, assistant tail twister.

Wendell Putman and Roger Merritt were installed as two-year members of the board of directors, and Harold Gorman and John Ely were seated as one-year members.

President Barney then presented the past president's pin and gavel to Jack Alkire, whom he succeeded.

Yahn, the former secretary-treasurer, was recognized for his outstanding service during the past year. He was presented a pin and vest clasp.

Each member of the team received an individual trophy. Charter members of the club were recognized and presented pins. They are Joe and Willard Bonham, Bill Dunn, Harold Gorman, Jim Hagler, Wilbur and Jack Hoppess, Sonny Johnson, Mark King, Bill Kearney, Bud McCoy, Paul Pope, Charlie Shaper, Tom Southers, Clarence Thomas, Earl Rea and Ned Abbott.

ORDINANCE NO. 25-74

An emergency ordinance to provide for the purchase of the first issue of clothing for uniformed members of the Fire Department, and to provide for an annual allowance thereafter.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WASHINGTON, FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO:

SECTION 1. The City of Washington will purchase for each regular uniformed member of the Fire Department of the City of Washington their first issue of clothing as prescribed by the official clothing regulation as posted in said department.

SECTION 2. That said clothing provided for in Section 1 hereof shall be the property of the City of Washington for a period of two (2) years from date of issue.

SECTION 3. That after the first year from date of issue of the original issue as provided for in Section 1, each member of the Fire Department shall be granted a clothing allowance of $150.00 annually.

SECTION 4. That said allowance provided in Section 3 hereof shall be payable anytime during the calendar year upon presentation by the Chief of the Fire Department of paid invoices evidencing purchase of uniform clothing.

SECTION 5. The Chief of the department shall, upon assurance that the statement of account rendered to him by any uniformed member of the Fire Department evidences a valid paid statement of account and transmit same to the City Auditor for payment. Payment hereunder shall be made by the City Auditor to the uniformed member of the Fire Department prepaying the account subject to the limitations provided for in Section 3 hereof.

SECTION 6. All prior ordinances pertaining to this subject shall be deemed repealed from and after the effective date of this ordinance.

SECTION 7. This ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, safety and welfare of the citizens of the City of Washington and for the further reason of assuring proper administration of personnel matters: wherefore, this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

White tigers born at Cincy Zoo

By NORM CLARKE
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Whining and whimpering, three white Bengal tiger cubs described as "cute as buttons" were being watched round-the-clock today after astonishing experts with one of the rarest births recorded in zoo annals.

The zoo famed for its fertility rate among lowland gorillas hit a bonanza Thursday with the arrival of the three cubs in a four-cub litter.

Cincinnati Zoo officials celebrated "The Year of the Tiger" with a trio of the rare cats.

An eight-year-old female Bengal named Kesari produced the exotic offspring. Their fur is presently gray-toned against black stripes.

Not albinos, the three cubs join a threatened specie which at last count numbered about 30 in the world.

"She is taking good care of two of them," said Pepper Wilson, spokesman for the country's second oldest zoo.

"She is licking their ears and nursing them."

"But she rejected two others that we have determined are males," he said. One of the cubs is a regular orange-hued Bengal, but has the power to reproduce the endangered breed.

The two rejected cubs are getting the kid glove treatment. Bottle-fed with a concentrated milk liquid and coddled by an 80-degree incubator, the two became instant hits at the 90-year-old zoo.

"We had people jammed in the building a couple hours after news of the births got around," said Wilson.

Closed eyelids hide the animals' icy-blue eyes.

Their noses and paw pads are pink. Survival of the four is the primary concern at the moment.

"Anyone with so much as a case of the sniffles doesn't get close to them. We're not taking any chances. We're pulling all stops to give them the best chances," said Wilson. "This is important to the world."

Smock-wearing workers gingerly handle the two males in the incubators. But no one is being allowed near the mother and her two white rarities.

"A sudden noise or anything that would frighten her and she'd kill the babies," he said.

"The situation with all of them will remain critical for several days. This race of tiger has a history of genetic problems," he said. The father of the kittens died in the past week.

The births more than doubled the population of the white Bengal family in the U.S. Only nine have been sighted in India since the turn of the century.

All five of the U.S. tigers are descendants of Mohan, a male taken into captivity during a 1951 hunt in India.

Kesari was loaned to Cincinnati by the National Zoo in Washington, D.C.

Aronoff says Congress must curb data

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, has told a congressional committee it is up to them to restrict use of computer data.

Aronoff testified that his proposed Ohio law was killed by a coalition of his own colleagues and special interest groups.

"Until Congress acts, I doubt that there will be much significant legislation," Aronoff told the Government Operations and Constitutional Rights joint subcommittee.

The Cincinnati Republican told the committee his bill which would have curbed the selling of information to computer banks without permission, had no opposition during five hearings.

He said he took it to the Senate floor to bring out any opposition. His colleagues killed the measure 21-10 on June 5.

Aronoff said the governor's office, which testified for the bill, lobbied actively against its passage.

He called the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants the measure's most active opponent. Aronoff said the council organized a "barrage of telegrams and acted as coordinating unit for some of the other lobbies."

"By the time the bill came to a vote, the list of opponents was a 'Who's Who'

of almost every registered lobbyist in Ohio. And some that were not registered," Aronoff recalled.

He was one of two state legislators—the other was from California—on a 25-member national committee that studied abuses of computer data.

Two bills similar to the one Aronoff introduced in Ohio are pending before Congress.

TV Viewing

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Macy was flat on his back in his one-room apartment in New York recovering from an injury received in "O Calcutta!" The telephone rang.

It was his agent, asking him to audition for a part in a new Broadway show, "And Miss Reardon Drinks Little."

"If you're a professional actor, your head is geared toward a part in a play someone is producing," said Macy, explaining at some length how he came to be Walter on "Maude."

"I'd hurt myself in 'O Calcutta!' doing a leap a year earlier and the pain had come back. The phone rings, and I'm not about to tell a producer about my injury."

Macy said he read for the part and was called back two more times before he got it. After three months on Broadway, the show went on the road, with a final stop in Los Angeles.

In his hotel room in Pittsburgh he saw "All in the Family" for the first time. "I called my agent in New York and told him that when we got to Los Angeles I wanted to play a part in 'All in the Family,'" he said.

"He laughed at me and said, 'Yeah, and who do you know on the show?' He started naming people and when he said Norman Lear I told him to stop."

Norman Lear, executive producer of "All in the Family," had seen Macy several times on Broadway and had written him letters of appreciation. He also had given Macy a walk-on part in "The Night They Raided Minsky's," a movie filmed in New York.

Macy got a part — seven lines as a cop.

After that, Lear created "Maude" and wrote the part of Walter with Macy in mind.

So, at 51, after a long and haphazard career as an actor, never making more than $175 for a role, Macy suddenly became an overnight star.

At present, more than 60 per cent of the Newfoundland government's revenues come from the Canadian federal government.

3 firefighters take assistant chief test

Three veteran Washington C.H. firemen took a written examination for the position of assistant fire chief Thursday evening. From the three will come the appointment of the first assistant since the current chief, Joe Denen, was appointed to his present position in Feb. 73.

Demo candidate at Jaycee meet

A Democratic Congressional candidate was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Washington C.H. Jaycees this week.

Dr. Lloyd A. Wood, of Chillicothe, who will be opposing incumbent Congressman William H. Harsha in the November general election, spoke to the Jaycees about inflation.

During the business meeting, conducted by President John Marcum, ticket sales for the Lewis Brothers Circus which will be held Saturday night at the Washington Senior High School grounds were discussed in addition to final preparations for the annual Fourth of July celebration activities at the Fayette County Fairground.

Ticket sales for the annual country and western music show on Aug. 10 were also discussed, Marcum said.

Minor mishap checked

An accident involving cars driven by Vernon E. Clay, 43, Rt. 2, and Timothy J. Keaton, 16, of New Holland, occurred in the Borden Burger parking lot, Columbus Avenue, at 11:25 a.m. Thursday, according to city police.

Damage incurred by both autos was estimated as slight.

Injured man removed from creamer tank

"Shall we cut the tank apart or is it possible to remove the man trapped inside through the top opening no bigger than his own body?"

That was the question confronting members of the Washington C.H. fire and police departments, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance personnel and employees of the Avoset Co., 1024 Leesburg Ave., at 11:40 Thursday night, after Craig F. Stewart, 22, of 718 Church St., slipped and fell against a mixer blade while cleaning the inside of a creamer tank at the Avoset Plant and injured his back.

The standard rule when dealing with back injuries is to move the injured person as little as possible, Washington C.H. firemen said.

LT. CECIL SEAMAN, of the Washington C.H. Fire Department, explained, "After lowering a back-board vertically into the tank, it was decided to get Stewart out of the tank the same way, for this was the fastest method."

Lt. Seaman and Washington C.H. fireman Danny Fowler, along with Gerstner-Kinzer attendant, Tom Weaver, entered the creamer tank and strapped Stewart to the board.

Nazarene concludes successful VBS

The pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, the Rev. Dale Orihood, termed the churches' vacation Bible school a complete success.

The school averaged approximately 90 pupils per day, and more than 150 church members attended the final program presented Sunday. Janet Thompson was the Bible school supervisor.

Teachers were Sally Black, Shela Johnson, Pam Jennings, Karol Wolfe and Terry Summers.

Assisting them were Joy Harper, Marilyn Mark, Sharon Anthony, Pam Wylie, Susan Berry, Debbie Johnson, Ruth Knisley, Eloise Summers, Duane Harper, Audra Orr and Hazel Burnett.

If you graduate in June, this is what you could be doing in September.

Contrary to popular belief, good jobs aren't that hard to find these days. Not that is, if you know where to look.

And a better place to look than today's Army you won't find. Our confidence is based on these simple facts.

One. We have more jobs to offer the Class of '74 than anyone. Military or civilian. (About 70,000 openings.)

Two. The jobs are the kind you don't usually step into right out of high school. Electronics, construction, computers, technical repair, communications and law enforcement are a few of the over 300 good, steady jobs we offer.

Three. Although the jobs we offer are considered "skilled labor," we don't require that you already possess the skill. We'll teach you everything you need to know in our training courses. (Experience will come on the job.)

Four. You choose the exact job training you want before you enlist. And, if you qualify, you'll get it. Guaranteed in writing.

That's our job offer to the Class of '74. We think it'll pay you to look into it.

After all, look what it did for the Class of '73.

Today's Army

A good job that's not hard to find

These are a few members of the Class of '73 who found what they were looking for in today's Army.
